Crisis in Railroad Situation Is Near

Truman's Labor Adviser Reports Picture "Doesn't Look Too Good"

Steelman Discloses He Is Trying To Put Through Wage Compromise

EXTENSION OF TRUCE APPEARS IMPROBABLE

Carriers and Unions Are Less Optimistic in Comments on Talks

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—Dr. John R. Steelman, White House conciliator striving to get a settlement of the railroad wage dispute before the truce expires Thursday, said tonight the "situation doesn't look too good."

Earlier, he disclosed that he was trying to put through a wage compromise. Any compromise of this nature would mean a bigger increase than an official fact-finding board has recommended.

Before going home to bed to make up some of his lost sleep, Steelman told a reporter that "perhaps a little progress was made" in today's talks but "not much."

The impression prevailed that there was little administration hope for an extension of the truce under which the brotherhoods postponed the strike of trainmen and engineers, originally scheduled for Saturday, the day after President Truman signed an executive order seizing the carriers.

In persuading the union leaders to postpone the strike, the president said he was confident progress could be made in further negotiations.

The railroads have agreed to pay an increase recommended by the fact-finding board, but the brotherhoods are demanding a higher figure.

The fact-finding board's recommendation, applicable to all the railroad workers, was for an increase of sixteen cents an hour or $1.28 a day.

The engineers and trainmen brotherhoods seek a minimum raise of $1.44 a day for lower paid employes which amounts to eighteen cents an hour and a general increase of eighteen per cent, which the carriers estimate will average about twenty cents an hour.

Democratic and GOP Organization Candidates Lead in Pennsylvania

PHILADELPHIA, May 21 (AP)—Democratic and Republican organization candidates coasted to long leads in tonight's mounting primary returns.

United States Sen. Joseph F. Guffey, Pittsburgh, unopposed for renomination, apparently will battle for his seat in the general election against Gov. Edward Martin, who headed the Republican slate.

Martin was opposed for the Republican senatorial nomination by Mrs. Elizabeth Parkhill Jordan, 57-year-old Pittsburgh grandmother and writer, who protested during the campaign that "the party is making a point of ignoring me."

Returns from 639 of the state's 8,232 precincts gave:

Martin, 59,955; Jordan, 7,842.

Attorney General James H. Duff enjoyed a long lead over John U. Shroyer, Shamokin dress manufacturer and former secretary of highways who broke with the party chieftains and left Martin's cabinet to run as the "New Guard" candidate for the GOP nomination for governor.

Returns from 2,214 precincts gave:

Duff, 255,078; Shroyer, 46,600.

Stalin Regrets That President's Food Request Didn't Come Earlier

LONDON, Wednesday, May 22—(AP)—Prime Minister Stalin has expressed regret to President Truman that a request that Russia assign grain to help UNRRA meet the world food crisis did not come three months ago when the Soviet Union "could have done something in this respect."

Truman's request and Stalin's reply were broadcast today by the Moscow radio.

In his answer to the president, Stalin said the request came in the middle of May "after the Soviet Union already has assigned a certain quantity of foodstuffs to France and other countries and when the resources of the Soviet Union are already being exhausted."

Truman, in his letter to the Russian leader, had expressed the hope that the Soviet Union could co-ordinate her actions with other grain-exporting nations to obtain better utilization of the world reserves.

The broadcast said Stalin told Truman that Russia had "no objection in principle" to the suggestion of co-ordinating the Soviet Union's grain exports, but added that the project would require "a special study."

WIFE OF ENGLISH ACTOR DIES AFTER FALL

Stairway Fall Injury Is Fatal To Actor's Wife

Mrs. David Niven Dies after Accident; Husband Is Prostrate

HOLLYWOOD, May 21—(AP)—Mrs. David Niven, attractive 28-year-old wife of the English film actor, died today from a head injury, suffered in a fall down a basement stairway at the home of Tyrone Power.

The accident occurred Sunday night during a party attended by a small group of film notables—friends of Power and his wife, Annabella. Among them were Gene Tierney and her husband, Oleg Cassini, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Greene, Caesar Romero and Mr. and Mrs. Rex Harrison, English film favorites.

A spokesman for Power said that blonde Mrs. Niven apparently mistook the basement door for one to a closet in which guests' wraps were hanging. She was looking for a garment to wear in a game of hide and seek.

Niven, who returned recently to Hollywood to resume the movie career he interrupted nearly six years ago to join a British army commando outfit, was reported prostrate.

Mrs. Niven, Scottish-born daughter of William and Lady Rollo and christened Primula, joined her husband here two months ago. With her came their two children, David, Jr., 3, godson of Noel Coward and Vivien Leigh, and James Graham, 6 months.

"It was such a tragic accident, I simply don't know what to say," Power said today. He hurried to join his long-time friend Niven.

The couple married August 15, 1940, after a whirlwind courtship that began when they met during an air raid at an airdrome outside London. Niven, a lieutenant, dived into a slit trench and found it already occupied by a WAAF and her pet dog. Niven said the dog bit him, and after a few words with its comely owner, they became friends. Niven and the WAAF married ten days later.

Postal Workers Pay Raise Bill Is Signed

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—Most postal workers received a pay raise of $400 a year when President Truman signed today a bill benefiting about 400,000 persons. It is retroactive to last January 1.

The $400 will not apply to fourth class postmasters, who receive twenty per cent additional, and part-time workers, whose hourly pay is boosted twenty cents.

Vandenberg Says U. S. Policy Bars "Appeasement"

Senate Is Told Policy Was Developed at Paris Meeting

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich) declared today that America has developed a bi-partisan foreign policy which bars "appeasement" and calls for a "peace for keeps," based on justice to all nations.

The development of such a policy was the chief accomplishment at the Paris council of foreign ministers, the Senate was told by Vandenberg, who accompanied Secretary of State Byrnes to the council meeting.

The Michigan legislator said that Byrnes, Sen. Connally (D-Tex) and he worked as a "constant unit" in behalf of a program which calls for the liquidation of the "closed corporation of big powers" in order that all Allied war partners shall join in drafting a peace without vengeance.

Vandenberg, chairman of the Republican senatorial conference, spoke only fifteen hours after Byrnes, in a report to the nation, offered Russia plainly-worded choice between agreeing to an European peace conference this summer, or having the United States ask the United Nations to act on peace settlements.

The Michigan lawmakers' words strengthened, too, mounting speculation that the United States may press soon within United Nation's councils for sacrifice by the big powers of their controversial power to veto decisions of the international organization.

The American policy worked out in Paris, Vandenberg said, was one "which invites all of our partners in the war—instead of a closed corporation of big powers—to have a proper voice in the making of the treaties and the writing of the peace which resulted from the common victories which we all helped win.

"It is a policy which wants a people's peace."

SENATE GROUP AGREES ON PLAN FOR ENDING CONTROL ON PRICES

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—The Senate Banking committee voted today to give the secretary of agriculture power to say when price ceilings should be lifted from food and other farm products.

Chairman Wagner (D-NY) announced after a closed meeting that the vote was 12 to 2.

Tentatively, the committee agreed, too, on a general plan for ending the wartime controls over prices as production of goods begins catching up with demand. It embraces three main points:

1. A policy formula calling for removal of price ceilings by the end of the year on all commodities not important to business costs or to living costs, and removal of other ceilings when supply and demand reach a ratio where a price increase, other than a temporary fluctuation, would not result.

2. Creation of an independent board of three members to which industries could appeal for removal of ceilings if OPA declined to lift them.

3. Lodging of control over food and farm prices in the Agriculture department.

Byrd, in Flareup, Virtually Calls Pepper a "Skunk"

Virginia Senator Denies Charge He Urged Coal Operators To Stall

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—Sen. Pepper (D-Fla) declared today he believed Sen. Byrd (D-Va) may have advised the coal operators to stall off a settlement with the union pending Senate action on labor legislation and Byrd, in a heated denial, virtually called Pepper a "skunk."

Pepper, assailing a proposal by Byrd to outlaw payments by employers to welfare funds administered solely by unions—such as John L. Lewis has demanded for his coal miners—reported that Byrd had held a conference with some mine operators, and asserted:

"I believed—and it has not been denied by the senator from Virginia—it possible that the senator from Virginia told the mine operators:

"'Do not agree with John L. Lewis until we can get this anti-labor legislation through the United States Senate because senators will bear the scorpion's lash of public condemnation if they do not enact legislation that will be considered by the public as in some way or other punitive against John L. Lewis.'"

Byrd Hurries In with Protest

Byrd, who had been in cloakroom, came hurrying in with a protest against what he called "false innuendoes." He sought to pin Pepper down as to whether the Floridan actually was accusing him of advising the operators to stall, and Pepper reiterated that he had spoken from the best of his belief about the situation. Finally Byrd exclaimed in disgust:

"I am reminded that when I first became a member of the Senate, my distinguished colleague the senior senator from Virginia (Sen. Glass) said to me that it never paid to get into a contest with a skunk."

Byrd said he had conferred with some Virginia mine operators at their request and maintained that all his constituents had a right to meet with him. Byrd and Pepper, both red-faced, exchanged further words and finally Pepper declared that if he had been at fault, he apologized.

"While I do not agree with the senator's philosophy," Pepper said, "I respect him very highly as an individual and I hope to enjoy his personal friendship whether I ever get out of his skunk class or not."

Debate Drones On

Later on, when Pepper referred to Byrd again in another connection, the Floridan expressed the hope that he would not "subject myself again to the charge of being an odious animal." Byrd, on hand this time, made no reply.

After the flareup the debate on labor control proposals droned on for the eighth day and a vote appeared as remote as ever. An attempt by Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) earlier to gain unanimous consent to limit debate was blocked by Sen. Morse (R-Ore).

As Pepper urged the Senate to approve establishment of union health funds he waved a newspaper containing pictures of miners' homes.

"The senator from Virginia can call me a skunk again if he wants to," Pepper said.

Pepper said the mass of working people are watching the Senate votes and would note any "betrayal" of labor.

Sen. Hatch (D-NM) jumped up to ask if Pepper was "trying to threaten senators?" Pepper replied in the negative and said he would withdraw the word "betray."

U. S. Will Share German Assets In Switzerland

Britain and France Also Are Dealt In under General Agreement

By JOHN A. SCALI

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—The United States, Great Britain and France tonight won a share in the hundreds of millions of dollars of German assets in Switzerland.

A general agreement, announced by the State department after several months of negotiations, disclosed that the Swiss, who at one time had refused to give up any German holdings for fear of compromising their carefully-guarded neutrality, would:

1. Turn over $58,140,000 of an estimated $130,000,000 in gold looted from other countries and sold or deposited by the Nazis in Switzerland.

2. Share with the three western powers and other Allies on a fifty-fifty basis the proceeds to be realized from the liquidation of German properties whose value has been estimated as high as $700,000,000.

The accord, while not yet finalized, provides "a satisfactory method of preventing the use of German assets for the financing of a new war," said the State department announcement.

While not mentioned in the announcement, a major factor which caused Switzerland to modify its original position was the $1,500,000,000 in Swiss assets which the United States had frozen.

Officials said the $58,140,000 would be divided among France, Belgium, Czechoslovakia and other nations from which the Nazis had "looted" gold. Great Britain and the United States have agreed not to claim any of the gold.

However, under the Paris reparations agreement of January 15, the United States and Great Britain

Lane Says State Planning Group Long Has Urged State Engineer

BALTIMORE, May 21 (AP) — W. Preston Lane, Jr., Democratic gubernatorial aspirant, said today his plan for the creation of the office of state engineer is basically the same as that of the Maryland Planning Commission.

His statement was issued in reply to an attack on his plan by J. Millard Tawes, one of the three major candidates for the nomination, who had called it "a New Deal idea."

Lane contended the creation of a chief engineer's office would save large sums of money through investigation of Maryland's building programs.

Tawes said it would mean more jobholders and more expense to the state.

Lane's statement said that "the Maryland Planning Commission has been recommending for years the creation of a 'chief engineer's office' as an adjunct to the board of public works.

"Mr. Tawes is a member of the board of public works, but apparently he never heard of the recommendation," Lane said.

He stated the recommendation was made by the commission of which Abel Wolman was chairman.

Saying that Baldwin stood for the things the people of Dorchester stood for, the spokesman, W. G. Winterbottom, declared:

Iran Says Red Troops Have Been Withdrawn

Russians Pulled Out before Deadline, Propaganda Minister States

TEHRAN, May 21 (AP)—Propaganda Minister Prince Mozaffar Firouz declared tonight that a state investigating committee had found that all Soviet troops left Azerbaijan province and all of Iran by the May 6 deadline set in the recent Soviet-Iranian accord.

Firouz's statement came as reports of fighting near the Azerbaijan border suddenly subsided.

He said a telegram was sent today to Hussein Ala, Iranian ambassador to the United States, instructing him to communicate to the United Nations Security Council the findings of the investigating committee.

Ala's report to the council of continuing Soviet interference in Azerbaijan, self-proclaimed autonomous province in the northwest, was "not the view of the Iranian government," Firouz said, but Ala's "own personal views."

Firouz, spokesman for Premier Ahmed Qavam's central government, issued his statement shortly after the government of separatist Azerbaijan lifted its one-day-old martial law with an announcement that "peaceful methods prevail."

At the same time the central government, reaffirming a determination to settle the Azerbaijan dispute peacefully, ordered an investigation of the armed clashes on the Kurdistan frontier involving Iranian and Azerbaijan troops.

Firouz said the investigating commission had visited all principal areas — towns formerly occupied by the Red army — and that its findings also had been given to the British, Soviet and United States embassies in Tehran.

He said the Azerbaijan question was "an internal affair," now that "the evacuation of the Red army is confirmed," and that Ala's statement of continued Soviet interference was not justified now.

Asked if the Iranian government would welcome a Security council

Treasury Docked Salary After George Washington Showed Up Late at Desk

RICHMOND, Va., May 21 (AP)—President George Washington showed up a couple of months late at his desk, so the treasury docked his salary $3,908.

This came to light when the George Washington Home Restoration, Inc., sought to get the money to start off a national fund drive. The treasury informed the organization that history showed Washington did not take office almost two months after he was supposed to, because of difficulty in organizing the government, therefore the money was not rightfully owing.

Survivors Tell How Nazis Slew GIs at Malmedy

By TOM REEDY

DACHAU, May 21 (AP) — Four American soldiers, giving graphic eye-witness accounts of the massacre of seventy-one American prisoners at Malmedy, said today that methodical SS troops directed by laughing officers mowed down the unarmed men with machine guns and then used pistols on survivors.

One of the witnesses, Lt. Virgil P. Lary, Jr., Winchester, Ky., climaxed his story of butchery by stepping from the witness stand, scanning the faces of the seventy-four Nazi defendants facing the military tribunal, and dramatically identifying George Fleps, 23, member of the First Waffen SS Panzer regiment, as the man whose two pistol shots touched off the slaughter December 17, 1944.

The prosecution charges the Nazis murdered nearly 800 American war prisoners during the 1944-45 Nazi winter offensive into the Ardennes.

The four American survivors testified that about 150 United States troops were caught in a severe German crossfire and surrendered. They were marched, hands clasped behind their heads, into a snowcovered field, and were mowed down by machine-gun fire, they declared.

All four stared fixedly at the court of six colonels and a general as they testified. None glanced at Gen. Sepp Dietrich and his seventy-three SS troops charged with the deliberate killing of war prisoners. All four wore uniforms with discharge insignia and each had rows of ribbons clustered about Purple Hearts.

To their grim report the prosecution added the statistics of death at Malmedy, listing 120 victims. Only seventy-one bodies were recovered, the prosecution said.

Krug, Designated To Take Charge, Appeals to Men To Stay on Job

Government Asks Lewis's Support in Keeping Mines Operating

OPERATORS PROMISE THEIR CO-OPERATION

Interior Secretary Will Attempt To Work Out Contract Principles

WASHINGTON, May 22 (Wednesday) (AP) — The government took over operation of the nation's soft coal mines today but whether the miners will continue working at the end of the strike "truce" Saturday remained a big unanswered question.

Federal operation of the mines began at 12:01 a. m. Eastern Standard Time under the seizure order President Truman signed yesterday.

These developments came rapidly:

1—Secretary of the Interior Krug was designated to take charge of the mines, with Vice Adm. Ben Moreell his deputy administrator.

2—Krug told a news conference the government has asked support of John L. Lewis, mine union chief, in keeping the mines open, that Lewis took the position the question was up to the individual men, but that Lewis took the request "under consideration."

3—Operators promised to co-operate with the government.

4—The government, Krug said, will attempt to work out principles of a new coal agreement, a complete contract if necessary.

Secretary Krug and his assistants are to have a second conference with Lewis this morning but, he said, the mine union head made "no promises and he requested none."

Krug To Work on Contract

Krug also conferred with representatives of the operators.

He told reporters afterwards that he will attempt to work out the principles of a new bituminous coal contract during the government operation. After this has been done, he explained, the operators will be called in "for discussions."

He said it might become necessary for the government to work out details of a complete contract—including disposition of Lewis's controversial demand for a health and welfare fund for the miners based on a seven per cent payroll charge against production.

Krug expressed hope that the miners "will stay at work and I hope we can find the basis for agreement that will keep the workers on the job."

He said that whatever contract eventually is worked out must comply with the government's wage-price policy.

Krug said daily reports of the

Army To Take Sacks Off Sad Sacks In Sweeping GI Tailoring Reform

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—The army wants to take the sacks off its sad sacks.

No more overcoats four sizes too big. No more raincoats three sizes too small. No more pants too long, shirts too tight.

The GI of the future, brags the army, will be a "trim, well tailored" individual, "proud of the clothing he wears."

That's what Secreary of War Patterson said in a news release today.

All field commanders, he said, are to study sartorial splendor. The GI is to be carefully fitted in the "correct size from the variety of sizes supplied by the quartermaster corps."

And if none of these fit?

"Army regulations," says the regulation-loving army, "prescribe that necessary alterations will be made."

You see? It's all in the book. Which means that future supply sergeants may talk something like this:

"Oh, dear, private! Your trousers are a mite too long, aren't they? We'll go to work on them immediately. And your blouse isn't quite so. Careful alterations are coming right up.

"My, won't you be the trim and well tailored one, though! And won't we be proud of our clothes."

Now for a little GI reaction.

Rep. Melvin Price (D-Ill) was a corporal at Camp Lee, Va., when elected to Congress. What did he think of the army promise?

"Well, they've got plenty of room for improvement," he told a reporter, "particularly on that summer uniform the second day it's back from the laundry.

"I'll believe it when I see it."

Okay, Mr. Patterson. It's your move.

Byrd Hurries In with Protest

Byrd, who had been in cloakroom, came hurrying in with a protest against what he called "false innuendoes." He sought to pin Pepper down as to whether the Floridan actually was accusing him of advising the operators to stall, and Pepper reiterated that he had spoken from the best of his belief about the situation. Finally Byrd exclaimed in disgust:

"I am reminded that when I first became a member of the Senate, my distinguished colleague the senior senator from Virginia (Sen. Glass) said to me that it never paid to get into a contest with a skunk."

Byrd said he had conferred with some Virginia mine operators at their request and maintained that all his constituents had a right to meet with him. Byrd and Pepper, both red-faced, exchanged further words and finally Pepper declared that if he had been at fault, he apologized.

"While I do not agree with the senator's philosophy," Pepper said, "I respect him very highly as an individual and I hope to enjoy his personal friendship whether I ever get out of his skunk class or not."

Debate Drones On

Later on, when Pepper referred to Byrd again in another connection, the Floridan expressed the hope that he would not "subject myself again to the charge of being an odious animal." Byrd, on hand this time, made no reply.

After the flareup the debate on labor control proposals droned on for the eighth day and a vote appeared as remote as ever. An attempt by Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) earlier to gain unanimous consent to limit debate was blocked by Sen. Morse (R-Ore).

As Pepper urged the Senate to approve establishment of union health funds he waved a newspaper containing pictures of miners' homes.

"The senator from Virginia can call me a skunk again if he wants to," Pepper said.

Pepper said the mass of working people are watching the Senate votes and would note any "betrayal" of labor.

Sen. Hatch (D-NM) jumped up to ask if Pepper was "trying to threaten senators?" Pepper replied in the negative and said he would withdraw the word "betray."

U. S. Will Share German Assets In Switzerland

Britain and France Also Are Dealt In under General Agreement

By JOHN A. SCALI

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—The United States, Great Britain and France tonight won a share in the hundreds of millions of dollars of German assets in Switzerland.

A general agreement, announced by the State department after several months of negotiations, disclosed that the Swiss, who at one time had refused to give up any German holdings for fear of compromising their carefully-guarded neutrality, would:

1. Turn over $58,140,000 of an estimated $130,000,000 in gold looted from other countries and sold or deposited by the Nazis in Switzerland.

2. Share with the three western powers and other Allies on a fifty-fifty basis the proceeds to be realized from the liquidation of German properties whose value has been estimated as high as $700,000,000.

The accord, while not yet finalized, provides "a satisfactory method of preventing the use of German assets for the financing of a new war," said the State department announcement.

While not mentioned in the announcement, a major factor which caused Switzerland to modify its original position was the $1,500,000,000 in Swiss assets which the United States had frozen.

Officials said the $58,140,000 would be divided among France, Belgium, Czechoslovakia and other nations from which the Nazis had "looted" gold. Great Britain and the United States have agreed not to claim any of the gold.

However, under the Paris reparations agreement of January 15, the United States and Great Britain

Lane Says State Planning Group Long Has Urged State Engineer

BALTIMORE, May 21 (AP) — W. Preston Lane, Jr., Democratic gubernatorial aspirant, said today his plan for the creation of the office of state engineer is basically the same as that of the Maryland Planning Commission.

His statement was issued in reply to an attack on his plan by J. Millard Tawes, one of the three major candidates for the nomination, who had called it "a New Deal idea."

Lane contended the creation of a chief engineer's office would save large sums of money through investigation of Maryland's building programs.

Tawes said it would mean more jobholders and more expense to the state.

Lane's statement said that "the Maryland Planning Commission has been recommending for years the creation of a 'chief engineer's office' as an adjunct to the board of public works.

"Mr. Tawes is a member of the board of public works, but apparently he never heard of the recommendation," Lane said.

He stated the recommendation was made by the commission of which Abel Wolman was chairman.

BALTIMORE, May 21 (AP) — A spokesman for a strong Democratic organization in Dorchester county declared today that the county would be delivered to Rep. H. Streett Baldwin in the contest for the party's gubernatorial nomination.

Dorchester is in the Eastern shore area which is the home of another major contended for the nomination, Comptroller J. Millard Tawes.

Saying that Baldwin stood for the things the people of Dorchester stood for, the spokesman, W. G. Winterbottom, declared:

"There is no doubt that he (Baldwin) will carry the county at the primary election."

Iran Says Red Troops Have Been Withdrawn

Russians Pulled Out before Deadline, Propaganda Minister States

TEHRAN, May 21 (AP)—Propaganda Minister Prince Mozaffar Firouz declared tonight that a state investigating committee had found that all Soviet troops left Azerbaijan province and all of Iran by the May 6 deadline set in the recent Soviet-Iranian accord.

Firouz's statement came as reports of fighting near the Azerbaijan border suddenly subsided.

He said a telegram was sent today to Hussein Ala, Iranian ambassador to the United States, instructing him to communicate to the United Nations Security Council the findings of the investigating committee.

Ala's report to the council of continuing Soviet interference in Azerbaijan, self-proclaimed autonomous province in the northwest, was "not the view of the Iranian government," Firouz said, but Ala's "own personal views."

Firouz, spokesman for Premier Ahmed Qavam's central government, issued his statement shortly after the government of separatist Azerbaijan lifted its one-day-old martial law with an announcement that "peaceful methods prevail."

At the same time the central government, reaffirming a determination to settle the Azerbaijan dispute peacefully, ordered an investigation of the armed clashes on the Kurdistan frontier involving Iranian and Azerbaijan troops.

Firouz said the investigating commission had visited all principal areas — towns formerly occupied by the Red army — and that its findings also had been given to the British, Soviet and United States embassies in Tehran.

He said the Azerbaijan question was "an internal affair," now that "the evacuation of the Red army is confirmed," and that Ala's statement of continued Soviet interference was not justified now.

Treasury Docked Salary After George Washington Showed Up Late at Desk

RICHMOND, Va., May 21 (AP)—President George Washington showed up a couple of months late at his desk, so the treasury docked his salary $3,908.

This came to light when the George Washington Home Restoration, Inc., sought to get the money to start off a national fund drive. The treasury informed the organization that history showed Washington did not take office almost two months after he was supposed to, because of difficulty in organizing the government, therefore the money was not rightfully owing.

Survivors Tell How Nazis Slew GIs at Malmedy

By TOM REEDY

DACHAU, May 21 (AP) — Four American soldiers, giving graphic eye-witness accounts of the massacre of seventy-one American prisoners at Malmedy, said today that methodical SS troops directed by laughing officers mowed down the unarmed men with machine guns and then used pistols on survivors.

One of the witnesses, Lt. Virgil P. Lary, Jr., Winchester, Ky., climaxed his story of butchery by stepping from the witness stand, scanning the faces of the seventy-four Nazi defendants facing the military tribunal, and dramatically identifying George Fleps, 23, member of the First Waffen SS Panzer regiment, as the man whose two pistol shots touched off the slaughter December 17, 1944.

The prosecution charges the Nazis murdered nearly 800 American war prisoners during the 1944-45 Nazi winter offensive into the Ardennes.

The four American survivors testified that about 150 United States troops were caught in a severe German crossfire and surrendered. They were marched, hands clasped behind their heads, into a snow-covered field, and were mowed down by machine-gun fire, they declared.

All four stared fixedly at the court of six colonels and a general as they testified. None glanced at Gen. Sepp Dietrich and his seventy-three SS troops charged with the deliberate killing of war prisoners. All four wore uniforms with discharge insignia and each had rows of ribbons clustered about Purple Hearts.

To their grim report the prosecution added the statistics of death at Malmedy, listing 120 victims. Only seventy-one bodies were recovered, the prosecution said.

Krug, Designated To Take Charge, Appeals to Men To Stay on Job

Government Asks Lewis's Support in Keeping Mines Operating

OPERATORS PROMISE THEIR CO-OPERATION

Interior Secretary Will Attempt To Work Out Contract Principles

WASHINGTON, May 22 (Wednesday) (AP) — The government took over operation of the nation's soft coal mines today but whether the miners will continue working at the end of the strike "truce" Saturday remained a big unanswered question.

Federal operation of the mines began at 12:01 a. m. Eastern Standard Time under the seizure order President Truman signed yesterday.

These developments came rapidly:

1—Secretary of the Interior Krug was designated to take charge of the mines, with Vice Adm. Ben Moreell his deputy administrator.

2—Krug told a news conference the government has asked support of John L. Lewis, mine union chief, in keeping the mines open, that Lewis took the position the question was up to the individual men, but that Lewis took the request "under consideration."

3—Operators promised to co-operate with the government.

4—The government, Krug said, will attempt to work out principles of a new coal agreement, a complete contract if necessary.

Secretary Krug and his assistants are to have a second conference with Lewis this morning but, he said, the mine union head made "no promises and he requested none."

Krug To Work on Contract

Krug also conferred with representatives of the operators.

He told reporters afterwards that he will attempt to work out the principles of a new bituminous coal contract during the government operation. After this has been done, he explained, the operators will be called in "for discussions."

He said it might become necessary for the government to work out details of a complete contract—including disposition of Lewis's controversial demand for a health and welfare fund for the miners based on a seven per cent payroll charge against production.

Krug expressed hope that the miners "will stay at work and I hope we can find the basis for agreement that will keep the workers on the job."

He said that whatever contract eventually is worked out must comply with the government's wage-price policy.

Krug said daily reports of the

Army To Take Sacks Off Sad Sacks In Sweeping GI Tailoring Reform

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—The army wants to take the sacks off its sad sacks.

No more overcoats four sizes too big. No more raincoats three sizes to small. No more pants too long, shirts too tight.

The GI of the future, brags the army, will be a "trim, well tailored" individual, "proud of the clothing he wears."

That's what Secreary of War Patterson said in a news release today.

All field commanders, he said, are to study sartorial splendor. The GI is to be carefully fitted in the "correct size from the variety of sizes supplied by the quartermaster corps."

And if none of these fit?

"Army regulations," says the regulation-loving army, "prescribe that necessary alterations will be made."

You see? It's all in the book. Which means that future supply sergeants may talk something like this:

"Oh, dear, private! Your trousers are a mite too long, aren't they? We'll go to work on them immediately. And your blouse isn't quite so. Careful alterations are coming right up.

"My, won't you be the trim and well tailored one, though! And won't we be proud of our clothes."

Now for a little GI reaction.

Rep. Melvin Price (D-Ill) was a corporal at Camp Lee, Va., when elected to Congress. What did he think of the army promise?

"Well, they've got plenty of room for improvement," he told a reporter, "particularly on that summer uniform the second day it's back from the laundry.

"I'll believe it when I see it."

Okay, Mr. Patterson. It's your move.

Stalin Regrets That President's Food Request Didn't Come Earlier

LONDON, Wednesday, May 22—(AP)—Prime Minister Stalin has expressed regret to President Truman that a request that Russia assign grain to help UNRRA meet the world food crisis did not come three months ago when the Soviet Union "could have done something in this respect."

Truman's request and Stalin's reply were broadcast today by the Moscow radio.

In his answer to the president, Stalin said the request came in the middle of May "after the Soviet Union already has assigned a certain quantity of foodstuffs to France and other countries and when the resources of the Soviet Union are already being exhausted."

Truman, in his letter to the Russian leader, had expressed the hope that the Soviet Union could co-ordinate her actions with other grain-exporting nations to obtain better utilization of the world reserves.

The broadcast said Stalin told Truman that Russia had "no objection in principle" to the suggestion of co-ordinating the Soviet Union's grain exports, but added that the project would require "a special study."

The Iranian people will abhor any interference with our sovereign rights, or infringement on our independence by one or a collection of countries by commissions or otherwise, especially when it is not asked."

Ala Reports to U. N.

NEW YORK, May 21 (AP)—Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala reported to the United Nations Security Council tonight that he had received information from his government that all Soviet troops were withdrawn from Iranian soil by May 6.

He transmitted a message he received from Iranian Premier Ahmed Qavam, which said a government commission had visited principal cities of Azerbaijan province and had failed to find any trace of Soviet troops or equipment.

The communications from Qavam did not mention alleged Russian interference with the internal affairs of Iran which Ala said last night was still continuing.

than the sixteen-cent recommendation of the fact-finding board.

Sen. Barkley (D-Ky) reported after a regular conference of congressional leaders with President Truman that the situation was in "status quo" but he added "everything is hopeful."

The carriers and brotherhoods, however, appeared less optimistic in their comments today on the trend of the negotiations being conducted separately with the two sides by Steelman.

Edward J. Flynn, Bronx Democratic leader and former attorney for the railroad brotherhoods, came into the picture. He saw President Truman at the White House at noon and then visited twice at the hotel suite of Presidents A. F. Whitney, of the trainmen's brotherhood, and Alvanley Johnston, of the locomotive engineers.

Flynn's visits were described as "purely social" and he merely grinned when newsmen asked whether he had carried any sort of personal White House message to the brotherhood officials.

Conflict in Union Statements

Steelman quietly moved back and forth between the carriers and brotherhoods trying to mediate the dispute before the five-day truce, dating from an original strike set for last Saturday afternoon, expires at 4 p. m. (local standard time) on Thursday.

There was some conflict in the statements of Whitney and Johnston on their demands. Whitney had told reporters Monday that the two brotherhoods had presented to Steelman a new "proposition" but Johnston informed newsmen today:

"So far as I'm concerned there's nothing to that."

Previously the brotherhoods had demanded an eighteen per cent increase for all the 250,000 engineers and trainmen, with a minimum $1.44 per day boost. This was a compromise from an original $2.50 per day demand.

Lane Says

today by Thomas E. Cook, a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Existing farm price levels must be readjusted on a basis of existing production costs, Cook declared in a statement. He "deplored" the policy of price-fixing "at levels below production costs, bolstered by subsidies."

"Agriculture can again become an independent and self-supporting industry through an abundant production and a sound taxing system," he declared, adding a criticism of deficit financing.

Cook said the four principal points of his program for nomination were solution of the farm problem, teacher benefits, $3 automobile license tags and aid for veterans. He said he would discuss each point as the campaign progressed.

Krug, Designated

progress of government negotiations would be made to the public and he commented:

"There will be no contract in a smoke-filled room. We will do the best job we can and we know that any kind of a deal we make will be subject to intensive criticism from all sides. We know the miners will think that because they are working for the government they will be at a disadvantage but we will do the best we can.

Lewis's Position

"I think we will know a lot more about the situation today or tomorrow."

Lewis took the position, Krug reported, that under the Smith-Connally War Disputes act the union "has no alternative other than to stay out of the affairs of the mine workers" after government seizure.

The act makes it illegal to instigate a strike in any plant or other property controlled by the government.

"The truce" order issued by Lewis when the miners were still under private operation contemplated that the miners would resume their strike automatically after Saturday if no settlement has been reached by then.

The president's seizure order declared that coal is "indispensable for the continued operation of the national economy during the transition from war to peace."

Although Charles G. Ross, presidential secretary, said that Krug's selection was "pronounced acceptable to both the coal miners and operators," whether the miners would work under federal management was not immediately determined.

Lewis Has No Comment

Lewis, who received the news of the presidential order from reporters in a barber shop, said: "I have no comment of any character."

The United Mine Workers' chief declined to say whether he has called the UMW's 250-man policy committee to pass on the question of working for the government in the continued absence of a contract.

Ross said that "both sides were sounded out" before the seizure order was issued. He would not say that the president expected the miners to work under federal operation, but it was learned that Lewis told Mr. Truman last Sunday that the decision rested with the policy committee.

Krug appealed to the miners to stay at work, declaring that the forty-two-day strike "disastrously retarded reconversion" and that a resumption of the walkout would deal the United States a "staggering blow" from which it might take years to recover.

The operators, who already had assured the president by letter of their co-operation in government operation of the mines, had no comment on the actual seizure order. The letter said the operators understood that they would be consulted on the terms of any contract eventually worked out, as they were in 1943, when former Interior Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes negotiated a contract after government seizure.

In New York, a coal operators' representative expressed belief that the seizure order indicated an understanding had been reached for a health and welfare fund financed by employers through a seven per cent payroll levy, and administered by the union.

This spokesman, who declined to permit use of his name, said a three-party governing body (presumably representing the public, the union and the operators) was likely to be created to administer the fund. He thought the percentage of payrolls allotted to the fund might be between one and a half and three and a half per cent, which he estimated would be from $17,000,000 to $35,000,000 a year.

As for wage increases, this spokesman said the government was expected to hold close to its general formula of eighteen and a half cents an hour, "or a little more."

President Truman's order said he was acting "to preserve the national economic structure in the present emergency."

Krug was directed to operate the mines "in accordance with such terms and conditions of employment as are in effect" at the time possession is taken. He was authorized to apply to the National Wage Stabilization Board "for appropriate changes in the terms and conditions of employment for the period of the operation of the mines by the government."

Negotiations have been deadlocked since the miners first left their pits April 1 by the operators' refusal to grant a union-controlled health and welfare fund and other non wage-hour demands laid down by Lewis.

The miners resumed operations last week under a truce to preserve essential operations after a forty-two-day shutdown during which industries were progressively closed and drastic steps, including the brownout of many cities, were taken to conserve fuel.

President Truman personally intervened last week to persuade the miners and operators to resume their broken-off negotiations. The bargaining again came to a standstill last Thursday when both sides refused to submit their differences to arbitration, as the president requested.

The seizure order followed a day of apparent inactivity during which neither the operators nor miners would discuss the situation.

Mrs. Wilbert Brinkman sang two selections, "Homing" and "The Little Damsel," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Robert Barclay, Frostburg.

Mrs. Steele announced that the state federation will hold a luncheon at the Belvedere hotel, Baltimore, on Monday, June 10, in observance of its silver jubilee. Those who plan to attend from Cumberland are asked to make reservations with Miss Bessie Harrison.

Mrs. Cara Little Ebert, former national committeewoman of the state of West Virginia, introduced Miss Brown. At the close of the latter's address, she was presented with a gold pin by Mrs. Steele on behalf of the club.

Miss Brown, a former president of the Business and Professional Women's Council, is one of the few women admitted to practice before the Supreme Court of the United States. She is a native of Texas and a graduate of the University of Maryland.

Cards featured the entertainment following the program. Winners at bridge were Mrs. George Young, Mrs. Clara Powell and Mrs. Albert Reid; at 500, Mrs. Frank Schulte, Mrs. Daisy Smith and Mrs. Amanda Bishop; and at dominoes, Mrs. George Henderson and Mrs. Hattie Roby.

A spring theme was carried out in the pastel-colored flowers, candles and favors at the dinner.

Mrs. Vada Drumm Barncord was general chairman in charge of arrangements, assisted by Mrs. Alva Davis, co-chairman, and chairman of 500; Mrs. H. S. Anderson, of bridge and Mrs. T. A. Beightol, of dominoes. Mrs. Phyllis Reed was chairman of prizes.

Other chairmen and their committees were Miss Bessie Harrison, reservations, assisted by Miss Alverda Ford, Mr. James Orr and Mrs. Walter C. "After the official notification to the Security council that Iran is evacuated by all foreign troops, I cannot imagine any pretext existing for interference in our internal affairs. The Iranian people will abhor any interference with our sovereign rights, or infringement on our independence by one or a collection of countries by commissions or otherwise, especially when it is not asked."

Ala Reports to U. N.

NEW YORK, May 21 (AP)—Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala reported to the United Nations Security Council tonight that he had received information from his government that all Soviet troops were withdrawn from Iranian soil by May 6.

He transmitted a message he received from Iranian Premier Ahmed Qavam, which said a government commission had visited principal cities of Azerbaijan province and had failed to find any trace of Soviet troops or equipment.

The communications from Qavam did not mention alleged Russian interference with the internal affairs of Iran which Ala said last night was still continuing.

Although he did not specify the exact differences between the Russian and the United States delegations, he asserted that "eastern communism and western democracy were unable, for the time being, to see eye to eye in most of these considerations."

than the sixteen-cent recommendation of the fact-finding board.

Sen. Barkley (D-Ky) reported after a regular conference of congressional leaders with President Truman that the situation was in "status quo" but he added "everything is hopeful."

The carriers and brotherhoods, however, appeared less optimistic in their comments today on the trend of the negotiations being conducted separately with the two sides by Steelman.

Edward J. Flynn, Bronx Democratic leader and former attorney for the railroad brotherhoods, came into the picture. He saw President Truman at the White House at noon and then visited twice at the hotel suite of Presidents A. F. Whitney, of the trainmen's brotherhood, and Alvanley Johnston, of the locomotive engineers.

Flynn's visits were described as "purely social" and he merely grinned when newsmen asked whether he had carried any sort of personal White House message to the brotherhood officials.

Conflict in Union Statements

Steelman quietly moved back and forth between the carriers and brotherhoods trying to mediate the dispute before the five-day truce, dating from an original strike set for last Saturday afternoon, expires at 4 p. m. (local standard time) on Thursday.

There was some conflict in the statements of Whitney and Johnston on their demands. Whitney had told reporters Monday that the two brotherhoods had presented to Steelman a new "proposition" but Johnston informed newsmen today:

"So far as I'm concerned there's nothing to that."

Previously the brotherhoods had demanded an eighteen per cent increase for all the 250,000 engineers and trainmen, with a minimum $1.44 per day boost. This was a compromise from an original $2.50 per day demand.

today by Thomas E. Cook, a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Existing farm price levels must be readjusted on a basis of existing production costs, Cook declared in a statement. He "deplored" the policy of price-fixing "at levels below production costs, bolstered by subsidies."

"Agriculture can again become an independent and self-supporting industry through an abundant production and a sound taxing system," he declared, adding a criticism of deficit financing.

Cook said the four principal points of his program for nomination were solution of the farm problem, teacher benefits, $3 automobile license tags and aid for veterans. He said he would discuss each point as the campaign progressed.

progress of government negotiations would be made to the public and he commented:

"There will be no contract in a smoke-filled room. We will do the best job we can and we know that any kind of a deal we make will be subject to intensive criticism from all sides. We know the miners will think that because they are working for the government they will be at a disadvantage but we will do the best we can.

Lewis's Position

"I think we will know a lot more about the situation today or tomorrow."

Lewis took the position, Krug reported, that under the Smith-Connally War Disputes act the union "has no alternative other than to stay out of the affairs of the mine workers" after government seizure.

The act makes it illegal to instigate a strike in any plant or other property controlled by the government.

"The truce" order issued by Lewis when the miners were still under private operation contemplated that the miners would resume their strike automatically after Saturday if no settlement has been reached by then.

The president's seizure order declared that coal is "indispensable for the continued operation of the national economy during the transition from war to peace."

Although Charles G. Ross, presidential secretary, said that Krug's selection was "pronounced acceptable to both the coal miners and operators," whether the miners would work under federal management was not immediately determined.

Lewis Has No Comment

Lewis, who received the news of the presidential order from reporters in a barber shop, said: "I have no comment of any character."

The United Mine Workers' chief declined to say whether he has called the UMW's 250-man policy committee to pass on the question of working for the government in the continued absence of a contract.

Ross said that "both sides were sounded out" before the seizure order was issued. He would not say that the president expected the miners to work under federal operation, but it was learned that Lewis told Mr. Truman last Sunday that the decision rested with the policy committee.

Krug appealed to the miners to stay at work, declaring that the forty-two-day strike "disastrously retarded reconversion" and that a resumption of the walkout would deal the United States a "staggering blow" from which it might take years to recover.

The operators, who already had assured the president by letter of their co-operation in government operation of the mines, had no comment on the actual seizure order. The letter said the operators understood that they would be consulted on the terms of any contract eventually worked out, as they were in 1943, when former Interior Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes negotiated a contract after government seizure.

In New York, a coal operators' representative expressed belief that the seizure order indicated an understanding had been reached for a health and welfare fund financed by employers through a seven per cent payroll levy, and administered by the union.

This spokesman, who declined to permit use of his name, said a three-party governing body (presumably representing the public, the union and the operators) was likely to be created to administer the fund. He thought the percentage of payrolls allotted to the fund might be between one and a half and three and a half per cent, which he estimated would be from $17,000,000 to $35,000,000 a year.

As for wage increases, this spokesman said the government was expected to hold close to its general formula of eighteen and a half cents an hour, "or a little more."

President Truman's order said he was acting "to preserve the national economic structure in the present emergency."

Krug was directed to operate the mines "in accordance with such terms and conditions of employment as are in effect" at the time possession is taken. He was authorized to apply to the National Wage Stabilization Board "for appropriate changes in the terms and conditions of employment for the period of the operation of the mines by the government."

Negotiations have been deadlocked since the miners first left their pits April 1 by the operators' refusal to grant a union-controlled health and welfare fund and other non wage-hour demands laid down by Lewis.

The miners resumed operations last week under a truce to preserve essential operations after a forty-two-day shutdown during which industries were progressively closed and drastic steps, including the brownout of many cities, were taken to conserve fuel.

President Truman personally intervened last week to persuade the miners and operators to resume their broken-off negotiations. The bargaining again came to a standstill last Thursday when both sides refused to submit their differences to arbitration, as the president requested.

The seizure order followed a day of apparent inactivity during which neither the operators nor miners would discuss the situation.

HIT THE TRAIL!

Each spring, soon as the melting frost has let the creeks flow free, they appear. Ragged, grizzled old men wilth tobacco stained beards shuffling along the crooked dirt streets to scattered mountain towns. Ancient little burros plodding beneath the season's load of grub stake-beans and bacon, flour and 'baccy, bullets and rusty old guns, capped always with a prospector's pan and pick.

Where they winter is a mystery. In some city flop-house or in a tumble-down 'dobe, perhaps. But with the first sign of the winter breaking up, while the gravel is still wet enough for old eyes to catch the golden glint and the water deep enough to feed the swirling pan, they're up and at it.

Sixty-five years, maybe, since first they hit the Sierra mother lode trail in their 20s. But the fire is just as hot in their rheumy eyes and the blood beats just as fast in their gnarled pulses as it did then. Forgotten are the memories of all past failures, the waiting days and blasted dreams. This is a new year! Spring's here and this time they'll surely strike it—hit the trail they've followed all their lives.

Old prospectors with their donkeys and their dreams. They're as sure a sign of spring as the first robin. Penniless, homeless old men doddering out with high hearts to try their luck again—I doubt if there's a braver sight on earth.

What a pity we can't all yield to that call of spring. Not literally, perhaps. We can't all drop our ledgers and pressure cookers and head for the hills. But what a difference it would make in our lives if we could hit the trail mentally like the old codgers who swarm through San Andreas, Sonora, Cripple Creek, Jimtown and Mariposa.

The desire is there. Come March, it quickens in us all. But we tramp it down. We smother it with doubts and fears and regrets. We don't admit that here's a new year, a new chance, with adventure calling. We grub around in yesterday's dust of old memories, old grief and hate and despair. Life calls. We plug our ears.

More Light Is Needed On Gasoline Tax Boost

ROBERT M. REINDOLLAR, chairman of the Maryland State Roads Commission, has urged the state legislative council to increase the state gasoline tax for the sole purpose of rehabilitating and extending the primary road system. He declares that these primary roads are "outmoded and inadequate."

It may be that more funds are needed for state road construction, but before any increase in taxation is imposed there should be more light on the subjects involved and particularly this one in view of the general heavy tax burden.

J. P. Lanigan, executive secretary of the Maryland Petroleum Industries Committee, takes issue with Mr. Reindollar on this proposed tax boost and it is timely in connection with the state surpluses we have heard so much about. Pressed for an answer as to what surplus the state roads commission would have on July 1, Reindollar, while maintaining that this had no relation to the request for a tax boost, admitted that it would be "several millions of dollars."

But Lanigan drives that point home with two pertinent observations. One is that the state roads commission must have a sizeable surplus available because spending for road work was limited during the war period while motorists continued to pay gasoline taxes and registration fees in the same amounts as in peacetime. They paid a million dollars more in 1945, one of the war years, than in 1937. Wherefore Lanigan would like to know why, if a goodly surplus exists as in all likelihood, the state roads commission should ask for a higher gasoline tax.

The other point is that, even granting that construction costs have increased, the revenue from the gasoline tax has also increased and will increase yet more when additional cars now being manufactured are placed in use. Maryland will receive $2,500,000 more in gasoline taxes this year than last, and it will also receive many millions in federal aid for highways. Representative George H. Fallon reports that this will amount to $4,800,213 as the state's share of the second half billion allocation of the billion and a half authorized by the federal Highway Aid act of 1944.

Yes, as Lanigan says, the people of Maryland should have more light on the moneys already available for state road construction before they can be expected to approve a boost in the gasoline tax.

He Evidently Doesn't Get Around Much

NEW YORK'S STATE INDUSTRIAL COMMISSIONER, in the course of figuring unemployment insurance tax rates for proprietors of eating and drinking places, has worked out a schedule of tips for waiters which he thinks proper for tax purposes and, apparently, for the customer as well. He suggests a seven and a half per cent tip for food and beverage service at tables, and a five per cent tip for counter and drug store service.

The commisioner, obviously, didn't eat out much during the war in big cities. Either that or he is possessed of a tough hide and a charmed life. All but the most cloistered must have learned by now that the traditional ten per cent gratuity in those places earns the giver a sneer at best, and is accompanied by the reasonable likelihood of getting a cup of coffee down his miserly neck or the chair pulled out from under him to speed his departure.

If the commissioner had done his eating in the smaller towns, however, he would have found an entirely different situation. In them — as here in Cumberland — those untoward tipping conditions do not obtain. But, once you get into the big towns, you have to tip and tip liberally or you are just out of luck. And when it comes to transportation service, as the Chesapeake and Ohio railway is noting in big advertisements, you have to do even more than that.

Just score up another mark in favor of the smaller comunity as the better place in which to live.

Arrested Tuberculosis Is Not Transmissable

(A guest editorial by the Maryland Tuberculosis Association.)

NOT SO MANY YEARS AGO tuberculosis was commonly called consumption, the "wasting" disease. Novels, plays and even operas were written about lovely heroines whose lives were slowly ebbing away as a result of this disease.

Today we know a great deal more about tuberculosis than we did at the beginning of the century. We know that it can be cured, particularly if it is discovered early, and we know it can be discovered before outward symptoms appear by means of chest X-rays.

Knowing more of the nature of the disease, we know that its victim is not necessarily doomed. The person who has had tuberculosis can return to useful, satisfying occupations when treatment has been completed. The only safe treatment is rest, complete bed rest, which is obtained in a hospital for the tuberculous.

When the patient receives his medical discharge from the hospital as "cured"—or, as the doctors prefer to say, "an arrested case"—there is no reason why he should not seek employment in an occupation which appeals to him so long as it does not require strenuous manual labor.

Many employers are eager to hire former TB patients because experience has shown they are, as a rule, good employees. But some employers still believe such persons are poor health risks.

Actually, the former TB patient is usually a good health risk. While in the hospital he has learned how to protect his health and is able to avoid many of the common illnesses to which other people fall victim from time to time.

And the fact that he once had tuberculosis does not mean that he may be endangering the health of his associates. While tuberculosis is a communicable disease and people catch it from people who have an active case, an arrested case cannot transmit the disease to others.

While physicians advise former tuberculosis patients against accepting employment which requires great physical exertion, it is not dangerous for them to take other types of work.

Gen. MacArthur As a Candidate

GEN. DOUGLAS MacARTHUR is not going to be a political candidate if he has anything to do about it, according to Martin Sommers, foreign editor of the "Saturday Evening Post" in an article in its current issue. The general has put out of his mind any presidential ambitions he may have had, Sommers says, seeing for himself a bigger role as a leader who may do something to direct the world toward renunciation of war.

There does not appear to be any political implication in Gen. MacArthur's change from a man of war to a crusading apostle for peace, Sommers says. It is simply that he feels the architectural job he has done in fashioning a new Japan from the ashes of a militarist-ruled slave state may eventually exhibit to the world a model from which a world of peace and democracy can be constructed.

Recent events at his headquarters indicate that MacArthur, whose prescience is one of his strong points, knows as well as anybody else that he would make a poor candidate, Sommers says, as some of the staff officers who gingerly nursed a presidential boom for him while he was in Australia have been removed from the inner circle, and given other assignments.

So it appears that the only way MacArthur could be a candidate even against his will would be by the drafting process, and it is quite likely that he would even then refuse to run.

While admitting that MacArthur might well make a fine president, Sommers points out several drawbacks with respect to his candidacy. "By the time the 1948 election rolls around," Sommers says, "he will be well into his sixty-ninth year, in an age in which youth is being served with regularity in politics. His aloofness from the mob, his incapability of ever regulating his acts to conform to the formula of the 'science of second best'—which is politics—and his innate shyness . . are not qualities a candidate can survive. . . .He is not a candidate who would attract practical politicians charged with a rough-and-tumble, star-spangled campaign."

So, in all justice to the man, it would be just as well, as this newspaper has before indicated, for the presidential boosters to lay off the hero-worship business with respect to Gen. MacArthur and give him full play in his present praiseworthy ambitions.

Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin, of New York city, president of the WCTU, complains that women, children and grandmothers are patronizing bars now and points out that thirty years ago bars were patronized only by men. In the meantime, however, we had the national prohibition effort, which brought about that change.

Why don't the peace treaty makers try the innovation of ceding territory to Switzerland and Sweden as a reward for having been peaceful for countless decades?

Ever since Jefferson said "Men who will not fight for their liberty may lose it," bureaucrats have been testing them to see whether they would fight.

State Control Is Viewed as Shift To Real Serfdom

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

In her column, "My Day," Mrs. Roosevelt gives us something to think about. It is this, "It has been a long fight to put the control of our economic system in the hands of the government, where it can be administered in the interests of the people as a whole."

Compare this with the following: "On October 18, 1936, Hitler appointed Goering to control the whole economic life of the country." (From "How Nazi Germany Has Controlled Business," by L. Hamburger—a book you should read.)

Then turn to "The Philosophy of Fascism" by Mario Palmieri. I quote: "We see thus the fascist state resolutely enter the economic field to dictate what shall be from now on the relationship between capital and labor, employer and employee, landowner and farmhand, industrialist and worker."

Sold on a Promise

German Nazism and Italian Fascism were "sold" to the people on the promise that they would be good for the people as a whole. The first Nazi order to the Reichstag was "to safeguard the interests of the German people." Hitler was the unselfish "leader." He was to be above party bickering. He was to decide between the clash of opposing interests. He was the friend of the comman man. Godlike, he was to speak for the whole. Rationing, allocation, priorities, prices, profit and wage controls were placed in his hands for the "good of the nation."

The people were to have Strength through joy, the beauty of work, social Security, the "people's car" (volkswagen), grand opera, gymnasiums, kultur, vacation trips to Norway's fjords, Christmas trees, beer, plenty, and peace. All this was prosimed if he had "control of the economic system." Christmas trees were in fact painstakingly classified in three price brackets, depending on length, spread of branches, etc., to guard the German pocketbook. Ceiling prices to football games were fixed to protect the buyer. "A fool and his money are soon parted" just couldn't happen in Deutschland. There were plenty of fools—dummkoepfe—but the government would save fools from their folly. Only postage stamps, Persian ruge, oil paintings and saddle horses —the playthings of the idle rich— were left to the mercies of free bargaining.

Duty the Only Right

Hitler summed it up. "There is only one right in this community, the right that results from the observance of duties which are assigned to every individual." This sounds like Henry Wallace's "Bill of Duties," does it not? "The allocation of labor"—the "Soldiers of Work"—was described by Der Fuehrer as the "deliberate direction of German labor in accordance with the material needs of the community.' This, too, sounds like administering things "in the interests of the people as a whole" in order to insure the more abundant life.

And so, compulsory labor service was clamped down for all youth between 19 and 25 to "work in the public interest." (Mrs. Roosevelt has advocated this.) It was called a "service of honor" to the nation. It was soon extended to all between 17 and 70.

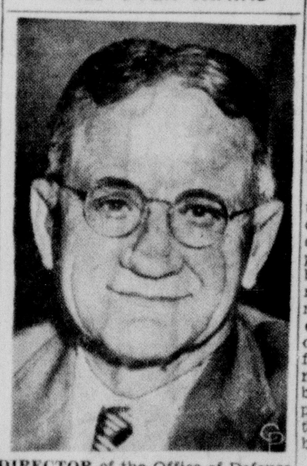
Lesson from Rome

But these Nazis were a special class, you may say. So I turn back the page of history to the time of the Roman Emperor Diocletian. In 301 A.D. he said it was necessary for rulers, like "watchful parents of the whole human race," to force the people to participate "in the blessings of peace." So he issued his famous edict fixing prices and wages for all important articles and services. His bureaucrats numbered "half the population." "Taxation rose to "unprecedented peaks." Torture was used on wives and children to make them reveal the hinded income of husbands and fathers. Carpenters, masons, etc., could be paid only forty-six cents a day, plus keep. There were huge public works and a depreciating currency.

So oppressive did this "watchful parent of the human race" become that artisans abandoned their trades; peasants gave up their farms to become hired hands; whole villages were deserted to escape taxation, and thousands "fled over the border to seek refuge among the barbarians!"

Thus, according to Will Durant, in "Caesar and Christ," Rome passed from "freedom to serfdom."

TAKES OVER TRAINS



DIRECTOR of the Office of Defense Transportation, J. Monroe Johnson, is shown in his office in Washington after he had been ordered by President Truman to take over the country's railroads and operate them in the name of the United States government.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Hoover Failed To Yield Ground to Head Of Big Food Corporation, Pearson Says

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, May 21—A distinguished group of government officials, publishers, and businessmen who sit on President Truman's Famine Emergency Committee was listening to Herbert Hoover give his off-the-record report on his world inspection trip. It was not an encouraging picture. Millions of people, he said, were beyond any help in China.

Toward the end of this discussion, a voice came from one of Hoover's listeners. It asked:

"What's going to be done for the manufacturers of this country? What are we going to get in the way of corn and wheat?"

The question came from Clarence Francis, president of the giant General Foods Corporation.

"Oh, I don't think anyone is going to starve over here," replied Mr. Hoover.

Other members of the famine committee sat silent and amazed as Francis pursued his queries, tried to pin the ex-president down. Hoover, however, did not yield. He felt that American manufacturers could take care of themselves.

Mr. Francis happens to be one of the biggest food manufacturers in the country. He is an executive of Best Foods, Walter Baker, Diamond Crystal Salt, Calumet Baking Company, Jell-O, Maxwell House Coffee, Postum, Minute Tapioca, La France Manufacturing Company. His company also has the distinction of having been investigated by the Agriculture department for getting a corner on a large part of the United States rye market last year. Chief stockholder of his company, Mrs. Joseph E. Davies, aunt of Barbara Hutton, serves more food at her swank parties than almost any other Washington hostess.

Synthetic A-Bomb Hero

The American public has a habit of seizing upon personalities connected with historic events and making them heroes. They are interviewed on the radio, played up in the magazines, their faces flashon every movie screen in the country. Overnight and out of the unknown, they become great men.

Sometimes, of course, it happens that the real heroes get no acclaim. This, however, is inevitable and not particularly dangerous unless the synthetic hero attempts to stay on the scene and use the glamor of his overnight buildup to influence unduly the American public.

Such an accidental hero was made when an historic bomb was droppedover Hiroshima. Overnight, the man who through pure luck was assigned to the construction of production facilities for the atomic bomb became a hero. The scientists who spent years working out the secret of the atom, the men who were spruned by the army and navy until they took their idea to Roosevelt, were given publicity back seats, while one hero, Gen. Leslie R. Groves, strutted across the stage.

No one would begrudge Gen. Groves his moment of swagering splendor if he had taken his bow and passed. However, he has remained to hog the stage; remained to pose as a great expert, whispering in senators' ears, trying to tell them what laws to pass, and now dominating Bernard Baruch's study of atomic energy.

Overrated Efficiency

In the files of the War Production board (File No. 19095) is one small sample of the overrated efficiency of Leslie R. Groves. Then a colonel, Groves was in charge of building the much-discussed Pentagon building, giant home of the War department. Near the site of the building was the West Brother Brick Company, then engaged in making brick, considered essential for war plant construction.

However, the brick plant was in the path of a clover-leaf series of highways which Col. Groves planned around his pet Pentagon building. The brick plant did not interfere with the Pentagon building itself, only with the ornate, modern highway system. So Groves decreed that the plant be moved.

This meant that several hundred thousand dollars' worth of highly-critical materials would have to be diverted from the rest of the war program for new construction of the brick plant at another locatin. It meant structural steel, steel rails, reinforcing steel, alloy steel, lumber, electrical equipment, brick dryer cars, rubber conveyor belts, dryer fans, heating equipment, etc. It also meant overburdening the railroads by hauling 3,000 car-miles of brick per day into Washington to replace the brick being made by the West brothers.

The War Production Board, therefore, recommended that the brick plant remain where it was until after the war, and one of the roads detour slightly to go around it. Col. Groves, however, said no.

Beauty before War

Reports Herbert J. Weber, then of the War Production Board: "I, myself, visited Col. Groves. I pointed out to him that the only product of condemning the brick plant would be a decorative approach to the Pentagon building, which would not have the slightest relationship to the prosecution of the war. I showed him the charts of detours around the brick plant which would bring the approach roads to the Pentagon just as effectively as would the route through the brick plant, albeit less decoratively.

"I might just as well have talked to a brick wall. Col. Groves showed himself totally devoid of interest in subordinating every other consideration to the prosecution of the war. He showed himself incapable of patriotic motivation.

"In this matter, Col. Groves—now the allegedly great Gen. Groves—did, in fact, materially and knowingly retard the prosecution of the war. The War Production Board had to allow the diversion of highly-critical materials. Col. Groves knowingly created that situation in order to construct a decorative approach to the Pentagon building."

No one would begrudge Gen. Groves his present spotlight on the stage if he were not today applying these same Pentagon tactics to dominating the future control of the atom—a future which affects the life of every man, woman, and child in America.

The Battle of OPA

Mail clerks on Capitol Hill say that the biggest deluge of letters ever to hit the Senate and House of Representatives poured in just after the House gutted the price control bill. A total of 600,000 arrived in one week, being about 10 to 1 in favor of OPA. Mail clerks had to work in three-hour shifts to handle them.

The mail made a lot of congressmen sore, especially Sen. Eastland, of Mississippi. But after his secretary told him that many of the letters were signed by veterans with serial numbers attached, the gentleman from Mississippi cooled down. He decided that this was mail he had better answer.

While this pro-OPA mail was largely spontaneous, inspired by indignation over House scuttling of OPA, a new type of mail has been arriving lately. This new mail is anti-OPA and appears to be artificially inspired. Moreover it is not nearly so large in volume.

Whether it carries much weight with congressmen remains to be seen. However, housewives and others who want price contro continued had best not let down their guard.

Note—One result of the first delue of OPA mail was that Sen. Hawkes, of New Jersey, former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, and viorous enemy of OPA, now says he isn't quite sure how he will vote. Another OPA opponent, Congressman Auchincloss, of New Jersey, has been apologizing to constituents for his vote, says he didn't understand the Wolcott amendment.

Firmness Is Seen In Byrnes Report, Lawrence Says

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 21—Patience and restraint such as the American people expect of their government has been exhibited to an extraordinary degree by the secretary of state, James F. Byrnes, whose report to the nation on what happened at Paris is as frank a document as world diplomacy has ever offered after an international conference.

Mr. Byrnes and his colleagues of the American delegation have discovered that secrecy usually favors those with improper purpose or evil design and that revelation of the truth is the most powerful strategy that a free government can adopt.

Returning officials say that each day detailed notes were taken at the conference and given afterwards to the American press—something that has never happened before. The American government, of course, had everything to gain and nothing to lose by candor. The secretary himself in his official report doesn't camouflage what happened or obscure what actually occurred by polite or hypocritical phrases.

The key to this policy of what Woodrow Wilson once called "pitiless publicity" is to be found in one sentence in Mr. Byrnes's address which will have an enduring life as an epigrammatic statement of American idealism. The secretary said:

No Impenetrable Curtain

"There is no iron curtain that the aggregate sentiments of mankind cannot penetrate."

In that sentence lies the hope of the world for peace. Secretary Byrnes labored indefatigably to work out an agreement. The headlines said that he and his colleagues failed. But that simply isn't so. The men who struggled for principle at Paris took a great moral position and they did not fail, because by June 15 the four nations must meet again to resume the conferences. The effort did not end. The meetings merely recessed. Meanwhile, the moral force and public opinion of the world can be mobilized to carry forward the program which Mr. Byrnes began at Paris.

"The situation," says Mr. Byrnes, "which we will face in the coming months will be a test not only of others but of ourselves. There are now and there will be in the future many occasions which might impel us to say as we did after the last war that, much as we would like to co-operate in the restoration of Europe, co-operation as a practical matter is impossible without the sacrifice of our principles and that we must be content to cultivate and defend our own hemisphere."

Isolationists Warned

Here the secretary was warning the isolationists in our midst as well as those Europeans who feel they can force out of America the last ounce of concession on the theory that Americans will not remain interested in or concerned with what is happening in Europe if our patience is worn out. Mr. Byrnes gave this answer to those who counsel withdrawal from European discussions:

"But we must not forget that if we fail to co-operate in a peace which is indivisible we may again find that we will have to co-operate in a war which is world-wide. Whether we like it or not, we live in one world."

This was but another way of saying that a retreat from Europe by the United States solves nothing and, in fact, merely multiplies the chances of involving this country in another war against expansionism and world dominion as developed in future years by those misguided rulers or leaders whose greed for territory and resources appears to be undismayed by the fate which befell the last aggressor nations.

Principle Uppermost

"I am unwilling to admit," says Mr. Byrnes hopefully, "that we cannot co-operate without sacrifice of our principles. If we are going to play our part we must take the offensive for peace as we took the offensive for war. But the victories of peace like those of war require faith in ourselves and in our ideals. They require initiative, resourcefulness, and unrelenting effort."

Mr. Byrnes has described the manner in which the American delegation fought against stubborness and misunderstanding at Paris. The Americans did not leave in an irritable or indignant mood even though their efforts were blocked by Russia's transparent expansionism. The Americans have merely refused to be worn down and driven back to this continent, leaving the chaos of Europe to the militaristic carpetbaggers of the age who would despoil weak nations if the world became indifferent. America, judged by Mr. Byrnes's speech, intends to stick it out and speak firmly and openly so that the whole world may hear and make up its mind in due course whether the so-called allies of the world really want peace or more confusion.

Setbacks

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

I know of no one who hasn't had his setbacks—periods of depression, the loss of a job, the wiping out of some determined dream, or who has not come to a period in his life when going on seemed intolerable. I know, in my own life, I have faced many such times, and came to the decision that the only plan was to keep on!

From a clouded sky the light always breaks—for behind the sun is always shining. Setbacks are the lot of us all.

General Grant had them, after returning from the Mexican war, and he was counted as a failure by many. He failed as a small town storekeeper. He entered the civil war in a subordinate position. But he plugged on and kept getting bigger as a soldier and officer, until he was finally recognized by Lincoln who made him his outstanding General.

Lincoln, too, had his long days of depression and even, at one time, contemplated suicide. He was also a failure as a small town storekeeper, was defeated many times in politics, and thought that his public career was at an end, when suddenly he was nominated for the Presidency of the United States. Now the entire world knows of his inspiring story. And history is honey-combed with such examples of failure, discouragement, and final triumph.

Setbacks are character tests. The strong survive—and go on—passing right by failure, in the same manner as the big dog strides on, unnoticing the snaps of lesser dogs who snarl at his feet. Setbacks are actually milestones in the development of a man's intellectual and moral structure. If his heart is right, and his purpose indomitable, he will stride on without fear.

Read the story of any great character and you will read of his many setbacks—some of them, at the time, appearing as most tragic and insurmountable. The one inspiring thing about Napoleon was his will to win. "There shall be no Alps!" he said, when they told him that he could not take his armies through the Alps to Italy. We can well emulate his spirit, though not his selfish ambitions.

Setbacks? What kind of characters would we have in this world, and what kind of a world would it be, anyway, without them?

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

With this warm weather we've been having out here, people have been flocking to the beach. Of course, the beaches in California are a lot different from the ones in the East like Coney Island. Back there you can't take two steps before you fall over somebody...out here you can take three.

It's really crowded... I know a guy who put suntan lotion on three arms before he finally came to his own. I was out the other day and when everybody went swimming, three schools of fish had to declare a recess.

And if you don't believe there's still a shortage of clothing materials, you should see some of the new bathing suits. I saw a girl wearing a cute little number... It wasn't really a number, it was more of a fraction.

The beach where I went was very exclusive. In fact, you didn't bury yourself in the sand...a representative from Forest Lawn came out and handled all the details. And you didn't feed the sea gulls bread crumbs...they ate nothing but melba toast.

But I was looking forwar to a wonderful day at the beach. I had my soda pop, hotdogs, and popcorn, but it didn't turn out so well... I'd forgotten to bring my pedler's license.

More Light Is Needed On Gasoline Tax Boost

ROBERT M. REINDOLLAR, chairman of the Maryland State Roads Commission, has urged the state legislative council to increase the state gasoline tax for the sole purpose of rehabilitating and extending the primary road system. He declares that these primary roads are "outmoded and inadequate."

It may be that more funds are needed for state road construction, but before any increase in taxation is imposed there should be more light on the subjects involved and particularly this one in view of the general heavy tax burden.

J. P. Lanigan, executive secretary of the Maryland Petroleum Industries Committee, takes issue with Mr Reindollar on this proposed tax boost and it is timely in connection with the state surpluses we have heard so much about. Pressed for an answer as to what surplus the state roads commission would have on July 1, Reindollar, while maintaining that this had no relation to the request for a tax boost, admitted that it would be "several millions of dollars."

But Lanigan drives that point home with two pertinent observations. One is that the state roads commission must have a sizeable surplus available because spending for road work was limited during the war period while motorists continued to pay gasoline taxes and registration fees in the same amounts as in peacetime. They paid a million dollars more in 1945, one of the war years, than in 1937. Wherefore Lanigan would like to know why, if a goodly surplus exists as in all likelihood, the state roads commission should ask for a higher gasoline tax.

The other point is that, even granting that construction costs have increased, the revenue from the gasoline tax has also increased and will increase yet more when additional cars now being manufactured are placed in use. Maryland will receive $2,500,000 more in gasoline taxes this year than last, and it will also receive many millions in federal aid for highways. Representative George H. Fallon reports that this will amount to $8,800,213 as the state's share of the second half billion allocation of the billion and a half authorized by the federal Highway Aid act of 1944.

Yes, as Lanigan says, the people of Maryland should have more light on the moneys already available for state road construction before they can be expected to approve a boost in the gasoline tax.

He Evidently Doesn't Get Around Much

NEW YORK'S STATE INDUSTRIAL COMMISSIONER, in the course of figuring unemployment insurance tax rates for proprietors of eating and drinking places, has worked out a schedule of tips for waiters which he thinks proper for tax purposes and, apparently, for the customer as well. He suggests a seven and a half per cent tip for food and beverage service at tables, and a five per cent tip for counter and drug store service.

The commisioner, obviously, didn't eat out much during the war in big cities. Either that or he is possessed of a tough hide and a charmed life. All but the most cloistered must have learned by now that the traditional ten per cent gratuity in those places earns the giver a sneer at best, and is accompanied by the reasonable likelihood of getting a cup of coffee down his miserly neck or the chair pulled out from under him to speed his departure.

If the commissioner had done his eating in the smaller towns, however, he would have found an entirely different situation. In them — as here in Cumberland — those untoward tipping conditions do not obtain. But, once you get into the big towns, you have to tip and tip liberally or you are just out of luck. And when it comes to transportation service, as the Chesapeake and Ohio railway is noting in big advertisements, you have to do even more than that.

Just score up another mark in favor of the smaller comunity as the better place in which to live.

Arrested Tuberculosis Is Not Transmissable

(A guest editorial by the Maryland Tuberculosis Association.)

NOT SO MANY YEARS AGO tuberculosis was commonly called consumption, the "wasting" disease. Novels, plays and even operas were written about lovely heroines whose lives were slowly ebbing away as a result of this disease.

Today we know a great deal more about tuberculosis than we did at the beginning of the century. We know that it can be cured, particularly if it is discovered early, and we know it can be discovered before outward symptoms appear by means of chest X-rays.

Knowing more of the nature of the disease, we know that its victim is not necessarily doomed. The person who has had tuberculosis can return to useful, satisfying occupations when treatment has been completed. The only safe treatment is rest, complete bed rest, which is obtained in a hospital for the tuberculous.

When the patient receives his medical discharge from the hospital as "cured"—or, as the doctors prefer to say, "an arrested case"—there is no reason why he should not seek employment in an occupation which appeals to him so long as it does not require strenuous manual labor.

Many employers are eager to hire former TB patients because experience has shown they are, as a rule, good employees. But some employers still believe such persons are poor health risks.

Actually, the former TB patient is usually a good health risk. While in the hospital he has learned how to protect his health and is able to avoid many of the common illnesses to which other people fall victim from time to time.

And the fact that he once had tuberculosis does not mean that he may be endangering the health of his associates. While tuberculosis is a communicable disease and people catch it from people who have an active case, an arrested case cannot transmit the disease to others.

While physicians advise former tuberculosis patients against accepting employment which requires great physical exertion, it is not dangerous for them to take other types of work.

Gen. MacArthur As a Candidate

GEN. DOUGLAS MacARTHUR is not going to be a political candidate if he has anything to do about it, according to Martin Sommers, foreign editor of the "Saturday Evening Post" in an article in its current issue. The general has put out of his mind any presidential ambitions he may have had, Sommers says, seeing for himself a bigger role as a leader who may do something to direct the world toward renunciation of war.

There does not appear to be any political implication in Gen. MacArthur's change from a man of war to a crusading apostle for peace, Sommers says. It is simply that he feels the architectural job he has done in fashioning a new Japan from the ashes of a militarist-ruled slave state may eventually exhibit to the world a model from which a world of peace and democracy can be constructed.

Recent events at his headquarters indicate that MacArthur, whose prescience is one of his strong points, knows as well as anybody else that he would make a poor candidate, Sommers says, as some of the staff officers who gingerly nursed a presidential boom for him while he was in Australia have been removed from the inner circle, and given other assignments.

So it appears that the only way MacArthur could be a candidate even against his will would be by the drafting process, and it is quite likely that he would even then refuse to run.

While admitting that MacArthur might well make a fine president, Sommers points out several drawbacks with respect to his candidacy. "By the time the 1948 election rolls around," Sommers says, "he will be well into his sixty-ninth year, in an age in which youth is being served with regularity in politics. His aloofness from the mob, his incapability of ever regulating his acts to conform to the formula of the 'science of second best'—which is politics—and his innate shyness . . are not qualities a candidate can survive. . . . He is not a candidate who would attract practical politicians charged with a rough-and-tumble, star-spangled campaign."

So, in all justice to the man, it would be just as well, as this newspaper has before indicated, for the presidential boosters to lay off the hero-worship business with respect to Gen. MacArthur and give him full play in his present praiseworthy ambitions.

Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin, of New York city, president of the WCTU, complains that women, children and grandmothers are patronizing bars now and points out that thirty years ago bars were patronized only by men. In the meantime, however, we had the national prohibition effort, which brought about that change.

Why don't the peace treaty makers try the innovation of ceding territory to Switzerland and Sweden as a reward for having been peaceful for countless decades?

Ever since Jefferson said "Men who will not fight for their liberty may lose it," bureaucrats have been testing them to see whether they would fight.

State Control Is Viewed as Shift To Real Serfdom

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

In her column, "My Day," Mrs. Roosevelt gives us something to think about. It is this, "It has been a long fight to put the control of our economic system in the hands of the government, where it can be administered in the interests of the people as a whole."

Compare this with the following: "On October 18, 1936, Hitler appointed Goering to control the whole economic life of the country." (From "How Nazi Germany Has Controlled Business," by L. Hamburger—a book you should read.)

Then turn to "The Philosophy of Fascism" by Mario Palmieri. I quote: "We see thus the fascist state resolutely enter the economic field to dictate what shall be from now on the relationship between capital and labor, employer and employee, landowner and farmhand, industrialist and worker."

Sold on a Promise

German Nazism and Italian Fascism were "sold" to the people on the promise that they would be good for the people as a whole. The first Nazi order to the Reichstag was "to safeguard the interests of the German people." Hitler was the unselfish "leader." He was to be above party bickering. He was to decide between the clash of opposing interests. He was the friend of the comman man. Godlike, he was to speak for the whole. Rationing, allocation, priorities, prices, profit and wage controls were placed in his hands for the "good of the nation."

The people were to have Strength through joy, the beauty of work, social Security, the "people's car" (volkswagen), grand opera, gymnasiums, kultur, vacation trips to Norway's fjords, Christmas trees, beer, plenty, and peace. All this was prosimed if he had "control of the economic system." Christmas trees were in fact painstakingly classified in three price brackets, depending on length, spread of branches, etc., to guard the German pocketbook. Ceiling prices to football games were fixed to protect the buyer. "A fool and his money are soon parted" just couldn't happen in Deutschland. There were plenty of fools—dummkoepfe—but the government would save fools from their folly. Only postage stamps, Persian ruge, oil paintings and saddle horses—the playthings of the idle rich—were left to the mercies of free bargaining.

Duty the Only Right

Hitler summed it up. "There is only one right in this community, the right that results from the observance of duties which are assigned to every individual." This sounds like Henry Wallace's "Bill of Duties," does it not? "The allocation of labor"—the "Soldiers of Work"—was described by Der Fuehrer as the "deliberate direction of German labor in accordance with the material needs of the community.' This, too, sounds like administering things "in the interests of the people as a whole" in order to insure the more abundant life.

And so, compulsory labor service was clamped down for all youth between 19 and 25 to "work in the public interest." (Mrs. Roosevelt has advocated this.) It was called a "service of honor" to the nation. It was soon extended to all between 17 and 70.

Lesson from Rome

But these Nazis were a special class, you may say. So I turn back the page of history to the time of the Roman Emperor Diocletian. In 301 A.D. he said it was necessary for rulers, like "watchful parents of the whole human race," to force the people to participate "in the blessings of peace." So he issued his famous edict fixing prices and wages for all important articles and services. His bureaucrats numbered "half the population." "Taxation rose to "unprecedented peaks." Torture was used on wives and children to make them reveal the hinded income of husbands and fathers. Carpenters, masons, etc., could be paid only forty-six cents a day, plus keep. There were huge public works and a depreciating currency.

So oppressive did this "watchful parent of the human race" become that artisans abandoned their trades; peasants gave up their farms to become hired hands; whole villages were deserted to escape taxation, and thousands "fled over the border to seek refuge among the barbarians!"

Thus, according to Will Durant, in "Caesar and Christ," Rome passed from "freedom to serfdom."

TAKES OVER TRAINS

DIRECTOR of the Office of Defense Transportation, J. Monroe Johnson, is shown in his office in Washington after he had been ordered by President Truman to take over the country's railroads and operate them in the name of the United States government.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Hoover Failed To Yield Ground to Head Of Big Food Corporation, Pearson Says

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, May 21—A distinguished group of government officials, publishers, and businessmen who sit on President Truman's Famine Emergency Committee was listening to Herbert Hoover give his off-the-record report on his world inspection trip. It was not an encouraging picture. Millions of people, he said, were beyond any help in China.

Toward the end of this discussion, a voice came from one of Hoover's listeners. It asked:

"What's going to be done for the manufacturers of this country? What are we going to get in the way of corn and wheat?"

The question came from Clarence Francis, president of the giant General Foods Corporation.

"Oh, I don't think anyone is going to starve over here," replied Mr. Hoover.

Other members of the famine committee sat silent and amazed as Francis pursued his queries, tried to pin the ex-president down. Hoover, however, did not yield. He felt that American manufacturers could take care of themselves.

Mr. Francis happens to be one of the biggest food manufacturers in the country. He is an executive of Best Foods, Walter Baker, Diamond Crystal Salt, Calumet Baking Company, Jell-O, Maxwell House Coffee, Postum, Minute Tapioca, La France Manufacturing Company. His company also has the distinction of having been investigated by the Agriculture department for getting a corner on a large part of the United States rye market last year. Chief stockholder of his company, Mrs. Joseph E. Davies, aunt of Barbara Hutton, serves more food at her swank parties than almost any other Washington hostess.

Synthetic A-Bomb Hero

The American public has a habit of seizing upon personalities connected with historic events and making them heroes. They are interviewed on the radio, played up in the magazines, their faces flashon every movie screen in the country. Overnight and out of the unknown, they become great men.

Sometimes, of course, it happens that the real heroes get no acclaim. This, however, is inevitable and not particularly dangerous unless the synthetic hero attempts to stay on the scene and use the glamor of his overnight buildup to influence unduly the American public.

Such an accidental hero was made when an historic bomb was droppedover Hiroshima. Overnight, the man who through pure luck was assigned to the construction of production facilities for the atomic bomb became a hero. The scientists who spent years working out the secret of the atom, the men who were spruned by the army and navy until they took their idea to Roosevelt, were given publicity back seats, while one hero, Gen. Leslie R. Groves, strutted across the stage.

No one would begrudge Gen. Groves his moment of swagering splendor if he had taken his bow and passed. However, he has remained to hog the stage; remained to pose as a great expert, whispering in senators' ears, trying to tell them what laws to pass, and now dominating Bernard Baruch's study of atomic energy.

Overrated Efficiency

In the files of the War Production board (File No. 19095) is one small sample of the overrated efficiency of Leslie R. Groves. Then a colonel, Groves was in charge of building the much-discussed Pentagon building, giant home of the War department. Near the site of the building was the West Brother Brick Company, then engaged in making brick, considered essential for war plant construction.

However, the brick plant was in the path of a clover-leaf series of highways which Col. Groves planned around his pet Pentagon building. The brick plant did not interfere with the Pentagon building itself, only with the ornate, modern highway system. So Groves decreed that the plant be moved.

This meant that several hundred thousand dollars' worth of highly-critical materials would have to be diverted from the rest of the war program for new construction of the brick plant at another locatin. It meant structural steel, steel rails, reinforcing steel, alloy steel, lumber, electrical equipment, brick dryer cars, rubber conveyor belts, dryer fans, heating equipment, etc. It also meant overburdening the railroads by hauling 3,000 car-miles of brick per day into Washington to replace the brick being made by the West brothers.

The War Production Board, therefore, recommended that the brick plant remain where it was until after the war, and one of the roads detour slightly to go around it. Col. Groves, however, said no.

Beauty before War

Reports Herbert J. Weber, then of the War Production Board: "I, myself, visited Col. Groves. I pointed out to him that the only product of condemning the brick plant would be a decorative approach to the Pentagon building, which would not have the slightest relationship to the prosecution of the war. I showed him the charts of detours around the brick plant which would bring the approach roads to the Pentagon just as effectively as would the route through the brick plant, albeit less decoratively.

"I might just as well have talked to a brick wall. Col. Groves showed himself totally devoid of interest in subordinating every other consideration to the prosecution of the war. He showed himself incapable of patriotic motivation.

"In this matter, Col. Groves—now the allegedly great Gen. Groves—did, in fact, materially and knowingly retard the prosecution of the war. The War Production Board had to allow the diversion of highly-critical materials. Col. Groves knowingly created that situation in order to construct a decorative approach to the Pentagon building."

No one would begrudge Gen. Groves his present spotlight on the stage if he were not today applying these same Pentagon tactics to dominating the future control of the atom—a future which affects the life of every man, woman, and child in America.

The Battle of OPA

Mail clerks on Capitol Hill say that the biggest deluge of letters ever to hit the Senate and House of Representatives poured in just after the House gutted the price control bill. A total of 600,000 arrived in one week, being about 10 to 1 in favor of OPA. Mail clerks had to work in three-hour shifts to handle them.

The mail made a lot of congressmen sore, especially Sen. Eastland, of Mississippi. But after his secretary told him that many of the letters were signed by veterans with serial numbers attached, the gentleman from Mississippi cooled down. He decided that this was mail he had better answer.

While this pro-OPA mail was largely spontaneous, inspired by indignation over House scuttling of OPA, a new type of mail has been arriving lately. This new mail is anti-OPA and appears to be artificially inspired. Moreover it is not nearly so large in volume.

Whether it carries much weight with congressmen remains to be seen. However, housewives and others who want price contro continued had best not let down their guard.

Note—One result of the first delue of OPA mail was that Sen. Hawkes, of New Jersey, former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, and viorous enemy of OPA, now says he isn't quite sure how he will vote. Another OPA opponent, Congressman Auchincloss, of New Jersey, has been apologizing to constituents for his vote, says he didn't understand the Wolcott amendment.

Firmness Is Seen In Byrnes Report, Lawrence Says

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 21—Patience and restraint such as the American people expect of their government has been exhibited to an extraordinary degree by the secretary of state, James F. Byrnes, whose report to the nation on what happened at Paris is as frank a document as world diplomacy has ever offered after an international conference.

Mr. Byrnes and his colleagues of the American delegation have discovered that secrecy usually favors those with improper purpose or evil design and that revelation of the truth is the most powerful strategy that a free government can adopt.

Returning officials say that each day detailed notes were taken at the conference and given afterwards to the American press—something that has never happened before. The American government, of course, had everything to gain and nothing to lose by candor. The secretary himself in his official report doesn't camouflage what happened or obscure what actually occurred by polite or hypocritical phrases.

The key to this policy of what Woodrow Wilson once called "pitiless publicity" is to be found in one sentence in Mr. Byrnes's address which will have an enduring life as an epigrammatic statement of American idealism. The secretary said:

No Impenetrable Curtain

"There is no iron curtain that the aggregate sentiments of mankind cannot penetrate."

In that sentence lies the hope of the world for peace. Secretary Byrnes labored indefatigably to work out an agreement. The headlines said that he and his colleagues failed. But that simply isn't so. The men who struggled for principle at Paris took a great moral position and they did not fail, because by June 15 the four nations must meet again to resume the conferences. The effort did not end. The meetings merely recessed. Meanwhile, the moral force and public opinion of the world can be mobilized to carry forward the program which Mr. Byrnes began at Paris.

"The situation," says Mr. Byrnes, "which we will face in the coming months will be a test not only of others but of ourselves. There are now and there will be in the future many occasions which might impel us to say as we did after the last war that, much as we would like to co-operate in the restoration of Europe, co-operation as a practical matter is impossible without the sacrifice of our principles and that we must be content to cultivate and defend our own hemisphere."

Isolationists Warned

Here the secretary was warning the isolationists in our midst as well as those Europeans who feel they can force out of America the last ounce of concession on the theory that Americans will not remain interested in or concerned with what is happening in Europe if our patience is worn out. Mr. Byrnes gave this answer to those who counsel withdrawal from European discussions:

"But we must not forget that if we fail to co-operate in a peace which is indivisible we may again find that we will have to co-operate in a war which is world-wide. Whether we like it or not, we live in one world."

This was but another way of saying that a retreat from Europe by the United States solves nothing and, in fact, merely multiplies the chances of involving this country in another war against expansionism and world dominion as developed in future years by those misguided rulers or leaders whose greed for territory and resources appears to be undismayed by the fate which befell the last aggressor nations.

Principle Uppermost

"I am unwilling to admit," says Mr. Byrnes hopefully, "that we cannot co-operate without sacrifice of our principles. If we are going to play our part we must take the offensive for peace as we took the offensive for war. But the victories of peace like those of war require faith in ourselves and in our ideals. They require initiative, resourcefulness, and unrelenting effort."

Mr. Byrnes has described the manner in which the American delegation fought against stubborness and misunderstanding at Paris. The Americans did not leave in an irritable or indignant mood even though their efforts were blocked by Russia's transparent expansionism. The Americans have merely refused to be worn down and driven back to this continent, leaving the chaos of Europe to the militaristic carpetbaggers of the age who would despoil weak nations if the world became indifferent. America, judged by Mr. Byrnes's speech, intends to stick it out and speak firmly and openly so that the whole world may hear and make up its mind in due course whether the so-called allies of the world really want peace or more confusion.

Setbacks

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

I know of no one who hasn't had his setbacks—periods of depression, the loss of a job, the wiping out of some determined dream, or who has not come to a period in his life when going on seemed intolerable. I know, in my own life, I have faced many such times, and came to the decision that the only plan was to keep on!

From a clouded sky the light always breaks—for behind the sun is always shining. Setbacks are the lot of us all.

General Grant had them, after returning from the Mexican war, and he was counted as a failure by many. He failed as a small town storekeeper. He entered the civil war in a subordinate position. But he plugged on and kept getting bigger as a soldier and officer, until he was finally recognized by Lincoln who made him his outstanding General.

Lincoln, too, had his long days of depression and even, at one time, contemplated suicide. He was also a failure as a small town storekeeper, was defeated many times in politics, and thought that his public career was at an end, when suddenly he was nominated for the Presidency of the United States. Now the entire world knows of his inspiring story. And history is honey-combed with such examples of failure, discouragement, and final triumph.

Setbacks are character tests. The strong survive—and go on—passing right by failure, in the same manner as the big dog strides on, unnoticing the snaps of lesser dogs who snarl at his feet. Setbacks are actually milestones in the development of a man's intellectual and moral structure. If his heart is right, and his purpose indomitable, he will stride on without fear.

Read the story of any great character and you will read of his many setbacks—some of them, at the time, appearing as most tragic and insurmountable. The one inspiring thing about Napoleon was his will to win. "There shall be no Alps!" he said, when they told him that he could not take his armies through the Alps to Italy. We can well emulate his spirit, though not his selfish ambitions.

Setbacks? What kind of characters would we have in this world, and what kind of a world would it be, anyway, without them?

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

With this warm weather we've been having out here, people have been flocking to the beach. Of course, the beaches in California are a lot different from the ones in the East like Coney Island. Back there you can't take two steps before you fall over somebody...out here you can take three.

It's really crowded... I know a guy who put suntan lotion on three arms before he finally came to his own. I was out the other day and when everybody went swimming, three schools of fish had to declare a recess.

And if you don't believe there's still a shortage of clothing materials, you should see some of the new bathing suits. I saw a girl wearing a cute little number... It wasn't really a number, it was more of a fraction.

The beach where I went was very exclusive. In fact, you didn't bury yourself in the sand...a representative from Forest Lawn came out and handled all the details. And you didn't feed the sea gulls bread crumbs...they ate nothing but melba toast.

But I was looking forwar to a wonderful day at the beach. I had my soda pop, hotdogs, and popcorn, but it didn't turn out so well... I'd forgotten to bring my pedler's license.

Pawpaw Juice Takes Tickle Out of Blankets

BRISBANE (AP)—Woollens as smooth as silk, guaranteed not to tickle, are promised to Australians. Manufacturers have found that the "tickle" is taken out of woollens by treating them with the juice of the pawpaw, a tropical Queensland fruit which partly digests some of the proteins in the wool.

OPA Strikes Out Against Black Market in Sugar

The OPA is striking out with every means it has under the law against counterfeit sugar stamps and the arrest last Friday afternoon of a Cumberland man on charges of possessing illegally stamps good for 2500 pounds of sugar has spurred the program, according to officials of the federal agency.

Results of counterfeiting of sugar stamps has resulted in the diversion of nearly 2,500,000 pounds of sugar from legitimate channels to "black market" operations since the first of the year, according to Leo H. McCormick, state OPA director.

The diversion of sugar through use of spurious stamps seriously aggravates an already scant sugar supply situation, the state director said. In Baltimore alone during March more than 100,000 pounds was drained off by counterfeit coupons, McCormick continued. Half again as much was lost in the state.

"The OPA is striking back with criminal actions against flagrant violators and suspension actions against dealers who continue to accept the counterfeits", said the OPA chief.

"Traffic in counterfeit sugar stamps must be eliminated. Dealers who accept the spurious ration currency face suspension for the duration.

"Merchants can, and they should, protect themselves by refusing to accept loose sugar stamps. They should demand stamps properly attached in ration books."

OPA said that the Alcohol Tax unit of the Treasury Department is cooperating on the theory that some sugar obtained through use of spurious stamps may be going into illegal manufacture of alcoholic beverages.

FSA Advisory Committees To Hold Joint Meeting

Mertz said the problem was drawn up in consultation with John D. Leatherman, Baltimore, FSA director for Maryland and Delaware.

Discussions will be led by Associate FSA Administrator R. W. Hudgens, Washington, and J. H. Wood, Philadelphia, who has charge of the agency's work in the eleven northeastern states.

Pawpaw Juice Takes Tickle Out of Blankets

BRISBANE (AP)—Woollens as smooth as silk, guaranteed not to tickle, are promised to Australians. Manufacturers have found that the "tickle" is taken out of woollens by treating them with the juice of the pawpaw, a tropical Queensland fruit which partly digests some of the proteins in the wool.

OPA Strikes Out Against Black Market in Sugar

The OPA is striking out with every means it has under the law against counterfeit sugar stamps and the arrest last Friday afternoon of a Cumberland man on charges of possessing illegally stamps good for 2500 pounds of sugar has spurred the program, according to officials of the federal agency.

Results of counterfeiting of sugar stamps has resulted in the diversion of nearly 2,500,000 pounds of sugar from legitimate channels to "black market" operations since the first of the year, according to Leo H. McCormick, state OPA director.

The diversion of sugar through use of spurious stamps seriously aggravates an already scant sugar supply situation, the state director said. In Baltimore alone during March more than 100,000 pounds was drained off by counterfeit coupons, McCormick continued. Half again as much was lost in the state.

"The OPA is striking back with criminal actions against flagrant violators and suspension actions against dealers who continue to accept the counterfeits", said the OPA chief.

"Traffic in counterfeit sugar stamps must be eliminated. Dealers who accept the spurious ration currency face suspension for the duration.

"Merchants can, and they should, protect themselves by refusing to accept loose sugar stamps. They should demand stamps properly attached in ration books."

OPA said that the Alcohol Tax unit of the Treasury Department is cooperating on the theory that some sugar obtained through use of spurious stamps may be going into illegal manufacture of alcoholic beverages.

FSA Advisory Committees To Hold Joint Meeting

YORK, Pa., May 21 (AP)—Problems confronting family-type farms in postwar times will be considered Thursday and Friday at the first joint meeting of the Pennsylvania, Maryland and Delaware advisory committees of the Farm Security Administration.

Arrangements for the meeting were announced today by Carson F. Mertz, Pennsylvania FSA director.

Mertz said the problem was drawn up in consultation with John D. Leatherman, Baltimore, FSA director for Maryland and Delaware.

Discussions will be led by Associate FSA Administrator R. W. Hudgens, Washington, and J. H. Wood, Philadelphia, who has charge of the agency's work in the eleven northeastern states.

Grafting Offers Hope of Speedy Leg Ulcer Cure

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Traditionally, leg ulcers have been troublesome for older men and women.

Due, as a rule, to some disturbance in the circulation produced by enlarged or varicose veins, they stubornly resisted healing despite all that doctors could do. Furthermore, they showed a tendency to spread so that, often large areas of the leg would be transformed into running sores and the unfortunate patient would be confined to bed for long, weary months, or even years.

Now, recent work done by Drs. Ruben Nomland and Evelyn G. Wallace, Iowa City, gives hope of quick and easy cure of this troublesome condition.

Skin Grafting

For many years, these ulcers, when larger than two inches in diameter, have been treated with skin grafting of the type known as pinch grafting because it is done with many tiny bits of skin rather than one large sheet. Sometimes, However, these grafts refused to take and it was felt that this failure was perhaps due to infection of the ulcer with certain types of germs.

For this reason Drs. Nomland and Wallace made cultures from ulcers in a number of patients to determine the type of germs present. They decided that the chief cause of the trouble was the hemolytic streptococcus and hemolytic staphylococcus.

When either one of these types of germs was present, the grafts usually took well but if both were present the results were poor. They decided that the use of antiseptic preparations on the ulcer would not control the infection but, perhaps, giving one of the sulfonamide drugs by mouth would succeed. They gave sulfathiazole three days previous to and three days after the skin grafts and attained good results.

Develops Rashes

However, many of the patients developed skin rashes because they were sensitive to the sulfathiazole. When penicillin became available, they decided to try it in place of the sulfathiazole.

The treatment which Drs. Nomland and Wallace use is carried out as follows. A test is made to determine the germs in the ulcer, and then the ulcer is bandaged with dressings kept wet with a boric acid solution. After four to nine days, a second culture is taken. This culture usually shows the same type of germs present as when the first culture was made, that is, the hemolytic streptococcus and staphylococcus.

They give penicillin by injection in a muscle ever three hours for from one to two days. A third culture is then taken, and usually shows that no germs are present in the ulcer. The skin graft is then done. A dry gauze dressing is put on and bandaged firmly in place.

After the skin graft, the penicillin is continued for from one to three days depending on the severity of the original infection.

This type of treatment was successful in all nine of the cases treated.

Rails, Selected Industrial Stocks Improve but Many Leaders Stumble

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK, May 21—(AP)—Rails and selected industrial stocks generally performed on the recovery side of today's market although many leaders stumbled over profit cashing.

Bidding again was predicated mainly on hopes that the railway and bituminous controversies soon would be settled. Word that the government had seized the coal mines came just at closing time and the list had virtually no opportunity to reflect this development. While dividends and earnings were helpful, there were some casualties here which depressed individual issues.

Dealings, fast in the forenoon, tapered as offerings cropped up here and there but transfers of 1,250,000 shares compared with 910,000 the day before and were the largest since May 13. The market regained its breadth with 1,015 issues registering. Of these, 540 rose and 285 fell.

Improved, but under the best in most cases, were Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Baltimore and Ohio, Texas and Pacific Railway, United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Aviation Corporation, Kennecott, American Smelting, Ohio Oil, United States Lines and Standard Oil (NJ).

In the losing column were Chrysler, Goodyear, Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, Consolidated Edison, North American, International Telephone, General Electric and Johns Manville. Du Pont, after its late bulge of Monday on a boosted disbursement, ended off one fourth at $216.25.

In the Curb, Heyden Chemical added three and three-fourths and lesser gainers were Continental Foundry, Canadian Industrial Alcohol "B", Greenfield Tap and Pantepec. Turnover here was 540,000 shares versus 420,000 yesterday.

Rail issues threw off recent hesitancy and decisively advanced over a wide front in the bond market.

Turnover of $4,234,000 was the largest in ten days and compared with $3,450,000 Monday.

Among gainers were Baltimore and Ohio stamped convertibles at 71¾.

United States governments lost as much at eight thirty-seconds of a point in the over-the-counter market.

Rails, Selected Industrial Stocks Improve but Many Leaders Stumble

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK, May 21—(AP)—Rails and selected industrial stocks generally performed on the recovery side of today's market although many leaders stumbled over profit cashing.

Bidding again was predicated mainly on hopes that the railway and bituminous controversies soon would be settled. Word that the government had seized the coal mines came just at closing time and the list had virtually no opportunity to reflect this development. While dividends and earnings were helpful, there were some casualties here which depressed individual issues.

Dealings, fast in the forenoon, tapered as offerings cropped up here and there but transfers of 1,250,000 shares compared with 910,000 the day before and were the largest since May 13. The market regained its breadth with 1,015 issues registering. Of these, 540 rose and 285 fell.

Improved, but under the best in most cases, were Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Baltimore and Ohio, Texas and Pacific Railway, United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Aviation Corporation, Kennecott, American Smelting, Ohio Oil, United States Lines and Standard Oil (NJ).

In the losing column were Chrysler, Goodyear, Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, Consolidated Edison, North American, International Telephone, General Electric and Johns Manville. Du Pont, after its late bulge of Monday on a boosted disbursement, ended off one fourth at $216.25.

In the Curb, Heyden Chemical added three and three-fourths and lesser gainers were Continental Foundry, Canadian Industrial Alcohol "B", Greenfield Tap and Pantepec. Turnover here was 540,000 shares versus 420,000 yesterday.

Rail issues threw off recent hesitancy and decisively advanced over a wide front in the bond market.

Turnover of $4,234,000 was the largest in ten days and compared with $3,450,000 Monday.

Among gainers were Baltimore and Ohio stamped convertibles at 71⅜.

United States governments lost as much at eight thirty-seconds of a point in the over-the-counter market.

War Veterans' Reception Plans To Be Discussed

Frostburg Jaycee Committee Calls Public Meeting for Thursday Night

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, May 21—A public meeting, sponsored by a committee from the Frostburg Junior Chamber of Commerce, consisting of Raymond L. Layman, Charles N. Hill, Harold C. Carl and Kenneth Jenkins, will be held in the city hall Thursday at 7:30 p. m. to discuss plans for a welcome home reception for returned veterans of World War II and a public memorial service for those who did not return.

It has been recalled that such a welcome home reception was held in September, 1919, for veterans of World War I, with the Frostburg branch of the Red Cross as sponsors. Mrs. J. C. Cobey headed the Red Cross committee for the 1919 event.

The Junior chamber of commerce committee has mailed a letter to practically every church, fraternal and civic group in the town, asking that two active representatives from each group be appointed to attend the meeting Thursday evening.

The proposed welcome home reception is to be a community event and returned soldiers and other servicemen from Eckhart, Shaft, Carlos, Midlothian, Clarysville, Hoffman, Lord, Borden, Borden Shaft, Zihlman and other smaller communities in this area will be included as guests of honor.

The junior chamber of commerce has been informed concerning almost every detail of the 1919 reception for veterans of World War I and the members feel that, with all groups in the various communities co-operating, a similar reception for veterans of World War II could be equally successful.

The proceeds from the affair, the jaycees state in their letter calling the initial meeting, could be used to erect a permanent memorial to those who made the supreme sacrifice, and quite possibly to build a much needed park in Frostburg.

Memorial Day Program Announced

The combined committees of Farrady Post, American Legion, and the John R. Fairgrieve Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, in charge of the Memorial day services met last evening and completed the program. A large delegation from both posts will meet at the post rooms at 8:15 a. m., and with the Rev. Walter Mehrling, will visit local cemeteries on the following schedule: 9 a. m., Percy cemetery; 9:30, German Lutheran; 9:45, St. Michael's; 10:15, m., Vale Summit; 10:30, Porters; and 10:45, Eckhart.

At 1 p. m., there will be a service at the World War II memorial board, with the Rev. J. F. Zimmerman delivering the address. The Rev. Mr. Mehrling will offer the invocation. The Arion band will play and a salute to the dead will be fired by a firing squad composed of members of both veterans' organizations. The program will be closed with taps, two buglers taking part.

The program to be held in Allegany cemetery at 2:30 p. m., will be as follows: Invocation, the Rev. Francis E. Montgomery, administrator of St. Michael's Catholic church; selection by the Arion band; Memorial day recitation, Bernard Cordial; selection, glee club from Frostburg State Teachers college; Lincoln's Gettysburg address, Joseph Evans; selection, band; address, A. Charles Stewart; selection, glee club; benediction, the Rev. W. D. Reese, pastor of Welsh Baptist Memorial church; salute and taps, combined firing squads and two buglers.

The committee in charge of the affair consists of Earl R. Miller, James O. Spiker, James Knepp, William Festerman, Arthur Norris and Daniel Miller, representing the American Legion, and Ranson Nave, Harry Whetstone and Oscar Frost, representing the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Red Cross Meets

The Frostburg branch of Allegany County Chapter of the American Red Cross met last night at the home of the treasurer, Mrs. Walter Jeffries, with Mrs. James C. Cobey, presiding. After a total of $4,011.98 was announced as the result of the drive last March, five chairmen gave reports of the activities of the local branch dating from October, 1944, until the present.

Mrs. George Hale reported that 22,900 dressings had been finished by the Surgical Dressings group.

Mrs. James Elias said the Sewing group made eighty-two pillow cases, fifty-eight fracture pillows, twenty-one pajamas, fifty-one foot warmers, forty-seven dresses, twenty-nine pants, three recuperating pillows, five lap robes, ten coats, twenty-two capes and filled 285 bags for the army and navy.

Mrs. Ada Dillon said the Knitting group completed 143 sweaters, eighty-four pairs of socks, seven helmets, twenty-one scarfs, eighteen wristlets and nineteen pairs of gloves.

Mrs. Walter Jeffries reported that fifty-three families had been aided by the Home Service department.

Mrs. Edward Ryan said that the Motor corps was still transporting patients to a clinic in Cumberland every Wednesday and taking infants to the local clinic every month in co-operation with the Lions club. The Motor corps also was assisting the state police with ambulance cases.

Mrs. Cobey said the local health center was in special need of contributions of infants' wear.

Football Committee To Meet

Members of the ticket committee of the "Football for Beall" general committee will appear at the assembly of Beall high school Thursday to explain a booster ticket sale planned to raise additional funds with which to equip the school's football team. Members of the committee, in addition to William H. Lemmert, general chairman, are Lloyd Griffith, Ralph M. Race, Herbert Loar, William Zeller and William Dolder. Two representatives from each room of the school will be invited to attend the next meeting of the general committee to be held in the city hall Monday, May 27. t

Eighty Cent Tax Rate Is Approved For Westernport

City Fathers Call for Decrease in Traffic Violations

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT, May 21 — The tax rate for the year beginning June 1 was set at eighty cents on the $100 by Mayor J. Milton McIntyre and Commissioners of Westernport last night.

Commissioner George Kight, was appointed police commissioner to assist the mayor in supervising the policemen of the city with authority to arrest any violators.

A drive is being made among operators of motor vehicles in Westernport, with the emphasis on Westernport hill where, it is reported, coal trucks are disregarding the stop signs. Burza Hanlin, chief of police, and Trooper A. M. Spioch of the Maryland State Police, will stop all drivers who are speeding, disregarding stop signs and operating without adequate mufflers. The city authorities are determined that these law violations shall be discontinued.

A communication was read by J. Carr Getty, city clerk, from the Tri-Towns Memorial day committee requesting the Mayor and commissioners to participate in the Memorial day parade. The group will turn out in a body.

Mr. Getty reported that 686 garbage cards had been sold for this quarter.

It was stated that George Hall, of the state roads commission, complained about state traffic signs being molested and wanted the city to use some publicity about it. Mayor McIntyre warns that any person who damages or removes any such signs will be arrested and prosecuted.

The services of Virgil Sines who is employed to clean the screens at the dam will be discontinued after June 15. Thirty dollars a month will be saved as the water superintendent, Francis D. Glass, will do this work.

Repairs will be made on Riverside drive road.

War Veterans' Reception Plans To Be Discussed

Frostburg Jaycee Committee Calls Public Meeting for Thursday Night

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, May 21—A public meeting, sponsored by a committee from the Frostburg Junior Chamber of Commerce, consisting of Raymond L. Layman, Charles N. Hill, Harold C. Carl and Kenneth Jenkins, will be held in the city hall Thursday at 7:30 p. m. to discuss plans for a welcome home reception for returned veterans of World War II and a public memorial service for those who did not return.

It has been recalled that such a welcome home reception was held in September, 1919, for veterans of World War I, with the Frostbgurg branch of the Red Cross as sponsors. Mrs. J. C. Cobey headed the Red Cross committee for the 1919 event.

The Junior chamber of commerce committee has mailed a letter to practically every church, fraternal and civic group in the town, asking that two active representatives from each group be appointed to attend the meeting Thursday evening.

The proposed welcome home reception is to be a community event and returned soldiers and other servicemen from Eckhart, Shaft, Carlos, Midlothian, Clarysville, Hoffman, Lord, Borden, Borden Shaft, Zihlman and other smaller communities in this area will be included as guests of honor.

The junior chamber of commerce has been informed concerning almost every detail of the 1919 reception for veterans of World War I and the members feel that, with all groups in the various communities co-operating, a similar reception for veterans of World War II could be equally successful.

The proceeds from the affair, the jaycees state in their letter calling the initial meeting, could be used to erect a permanent memorial to those who made the supreme sacrifice, and quite possibly to build a much needed park in Frostburg.

Memorial Day Program Announced

The combined committees of Farrady Post, American Legion, and the John R. Fairgrieve Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, in charge of the Memorial day services met last evening and completed the program. A large delegation from both posts will meet at the post rooms at 8:15 a. m., and with the Rev. Walter Mehrling, will visit local cemeteries on the following schedule: 9 a. m., Percy cemetery; 9:30, German Lutheran; 9:45, St. Michael's; 10:15, a. m., Vale Summit; 10:30, Porters; and 10:45, Eckhart.

At 1 p. m., there will be a service at the World War II memorial board, with the Rev. J. F. Zimmerman delivering the address. The Rev. Mr. Mehrling will offer the invocation. The Arion band will play and a salute to the dead will be fired by a firing squad composed of members of both veterans' organizations. The program will be closed with taps, two buglers taking part.

The program to be held in Allegany cemetery at 2:30 p. m., will be as follows: Invocation, the Rev. Francis E. Montgomery, administrator of St. Michael's Catholic church; selection by the Arion band; Memorial day recitation, Bernard Cordial; selection, glee club from Frostburg State Teachers college; Lincoln's Gettysburg address, Joseph Evans; selection, band; address, A. Charles Stewart; selection, glee club; benediction, the Rev. W. D. Reese, pastor of Welsh Baptist Memorial church; salute and taps, combined firing squads and two buglers.

The committee in charge of the affair consists of Earl R. Miller, James O. Spiker, James Knepp, William Festerman, Arthur Norris and Daniel Miller, representing the American Legion, and Ranson Nave, Harry Whetstone and Oscar Frost, representing the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Red Cross Meets

The Frostburg branch of Allegany County Chapter of the American Red Cross met last night at the home of the treasurer, Mrs. Walter Jeffries, with Mrs. James C. Cobey, presiding. After a total of $4,011.98 was announced as the result of the drive last March, five chairmen gave reports of the activities of the local branch dating from October, 1944, until the present.

Mrs. George Hale reported that 22,900 dressings had been finished by the Surgical Dressings group.

Mrs. James Elias said the Sewing group made eighty-two pillow cases, fifty-eight fracture pillows, twenty-one pajamas, fifty-one foot warmers, forty-seven dresses, twenty-nine pants, three recuperating pillows, five lap robes, ten coats, twenty-two capes and filled 285 bags for the army and navy.

Mrs. Ada Dillon said the Knitting group completed 143 sweaters, eighty-four pairs of socks, seven helmets, twenty-one scarfs, eighteen wristlets and nineteen pairs of gloves.

Mrs. Walter Jeffries reported that fifty-three families had been aided by the Home Service department.

Mrs. Edward Ryan said that the Motor corps was still transporting patients to a clinic in Cumberland every Wednesday and taking infants to the local clinic every month in co-operation with the Lions club. The Motor corps also was assisting the state police with ambulance cases.

Mrs. Cobey said the local health center was in special need of contributions of infants' wear.

Football Committee To Meet

Members of the ticket committee of the "Football for Beall" general committee will appear at the assembly of Beall high school Thursday to explain a booster ticket sale planned to raise additional funds with which to equip the school's football team. Rails, Selected Industrial Stocks Improve but Many Leaders Stumble

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK, May 21—(AP)—Rails and selected industrial stocks generally performed on the recovery side of today's market although many leaders stumbled over profit cashing.

Bidding again was predicated mainly on hopes that the railway and bituminous controversies soon would be settled. Word that the government had seized the coal mines came just at closing time and the list had virtually no opportunity to reflect this development. While dividends and earnings were helpful, there were some casualties here which depressed individual issues.

Dealings, fast in the forenoon, tapered as offerings cropped up here and there but transfers of 1,250,000 shares compared with 910,000 the day before and were the largest since May 13. The market regained its breadth with 1,015 issues registering. Of these, 540 rose and 285 fell.

Improved, but under the best in most cases, were Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Baltimore and Ohio, Texas and Pacific Railway, United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Aviation Corporation, Kennecott, American Smelting, Ohio Oil, United States Lines and Standard Oil (NJ).

In the losing column were Chrysler, Goodyear, Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, Consolidated Edison, North American, International Telephone, General Electric and Johns Manville. Du Pont, after its late bulge of Monday on a boosted disbursement, ended off one fourth at $216.25.

In the Curb, Heyden Chemical added three and three-fourths and lesser gainers were Continental Foundry, Canadian Industrial Alcohol "B", Greenfield Tap and Pantepec. Turnover here was 540,000 shares versus 420,000 yesterday.

Rail issues threw off recent hesitancy and decisively advanced over a wide front in the bond market.

Turnover of $4,234,000 was the largest in ten days and compared with $3,450,000 Monday.

Among gainers were Baltimore and Ohio stamped convertibles at 71¾.

United States governments lost as much at eight thirty-seconds of a point in the over-the-counter market.

War Veterans' Reception Plans To Be Discussed

Frostburg Jaycee Committee Calls Public Meeting for Thursday Night

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, May 21—A public meeting, sponsored by a committee from the Frostburg Junior Chamber of Commerce, consisting of Raymond L. Layman, Charles N. Hill, Harold C. Carl and Kenneth Jenkins, will be held in the city hall Thursday at 7:30 p. m. to discuss plans for a welcome home reception for returned veterans of World War II and a public memorial service for those who did not return.

It has been recalled that such a welcome home reception was held in September, 1919, for veterans of World War I, with the Frostbgurg branch of the Red Cross as sponsors. Mrs. J. C. Cobey headed the Red Cross committee for the 1919 event.

The Junior chamber of commerce committee has mailed a letter to practically every church, fraternal and civic group in the town, asking that two active representatives from each group be appointed to attend the meeting Thursday evening.

The proposed welcome home reception is to be a community event and returned soldiers and other servicemen from Eckhart, Shaft, Carlos, Midlothian, Clarysville, Hoffman, Lord, Borden, Borden Shaft, Zihlman and other smaller communities in this area will be included as guests of honor.

The junior chamber of commerce has been informed concerning almost every detail of the 1919 reception for veterans of World War I and the members feel that, with all groups in the various communities co-operating, a similar reception for veterans of World War II could be equally successful.

The proceeds from the affair, the jaycees state in their letter calling the initial meeting, could be used to erect a permanent memorial to those who made the supreme sacrifice, and quite possibly to build a much needed park in Frostburg.

Memorial Day Program Announced

The combined committees of Farrady Post, American Legion, and the John R. Fairgrieve Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, in charge of the Memorial day services met last evening and completed the program. A large delegation from both posts will meet at the post rooms at 8:15 a. m., and with the Rev. Walter Mehrling, will visit local cemeteries on the following schedule: 9 a. m., Percy cemetery; 9:30, German Lutheran; 9:45, St. Michael's; 10:15, m., Vale Summit; 10:30, Porters; and 10:45, Eckhart.

At 1 p. m., there will be a service at the World War II memorial board, with the Rev. J. F. Zimmerman delivering the address. The Rev. Mr. Mehrling will offer the invocation. The Arion band will play and a salute to the dead will be fired by a firing squad composed of members of both veterans' organizations. The program will be closed with taps, two buglers taking part.

The program to be held in Allegany cemetery at 2:30 p. m., will be as follows: Invocation, the Rev. Francis E. Montgomery, administrator of St. Michael's Catholic church; selection by the Arion band; Memorial day recitation, Bernard Cordial; selection, glee club from Frostburg State Teachers college; Lincoln's Gettysburg address, Joseph Evans; selection, band; address, A. Charles Stewart; selection, glee club; benediction, the Rev. W. D. Reese, pastor of Welsh Baptist Memorial church; salute and taps, combined firing squads and two buglers.

The committee in charge of the affair consists of Earl R. Miller, James O. Spiker, James Knepp, William Festerman, Arthur Norris and Daniel Miller, representing the American Legion, and Ranson Nave, Harry Whetstone and Oscar Frost, representing the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Red Cross Meets

The Frostburg branch of Allegany County Chapter of the American Red Cross met last night at the home of the treasurer, Mrs. Walter Jeffries, with Mrs. James C. Cobey, presiding. Eighty Cent Tax Rate Is Approved For Westernport

City Fathers Call for Decrease in Traffic Violations

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT, May 21 — The tax rate for the year beginning June 1 was set at eighty cents on the $100 by Mayor J. Milton McIntyre and Commissioners of Westernport last night.

Commissioner George Kight, was appointed police commissioner to assist the mayor in supervising the policemen of the city with authority to arrest any violators.

A drive is being made among operators of motor vehicles in Westernport, with the emphasis on Westernport hill where, it is reported, coal trucks are disregarding the stop signs. Burza Hanlin, chief of police, and Trooper A. M. Spioch of the Maryland State Police, will stop all drivers who are speeding, disregarding stop signs and operating without adequate mufflers. The city authorities are determined that these law violations shall be discontinued.

A communication was read by J. Carr Getty, city clerk, from the Tri-Towns Memorial day committee requesting the Mayor and commissioners to participate in the Memorial day parade. The group will turn out in a body.

Mr. Getty reported that 686 garbage cards had been sold for this quarter.

It was stated that George Hall, of the state roads commission, complained about state traffic signs being molested and wanted the city to use some publicity about it. Mayor McIntyre warns that any person who damages or removes any such signs will be arrested and prosecuted.

The services of Virgil Sines who is employed to clean the screens at the dam will be discontinued after June 15. Thirty dollars a month will be saved as the water superintendent, Francis D. Glass, will do this work.

Repairs will be made on Riverside drive road.

War Veterans' Reception Plans To Be Discussed

Frostburg Jaycee Committee Calls Public Meeting for Thursday Night

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, May 21—A public meeting, sponsored by a committee from the Frostburg Junior Chamber of Commerce, consisting of Raymond L. Layman, Charles N. Hill, Harold C. Carl and Kenneth Jenkins, will be held in the city hall Thursday at 7:30 p. m. to discuss plans for a welcome home reception for returned veterans of World War II and a public memorial service for those who did not return.

It has been recalled that such a welcome home reception was held in September, 1919, for veterans of World War I, with the Frostburg branch of the Red Cross as sponsors. Mrs. J. C. Cobey headed the Red Cross committee for the 1919 event.

The Junior chamber of commerce committee has mailed a letter to practically every church, fraternal and civic group in the town, asking that two active representatives from each group be appointed to attend the meeting Thursday evening.

The proposed welcome home reception is to be a community event and returned soldiers and other servicemen from Eckhart, Shaft, Carlos, Midlothian, Clarysville, Hoffman, Lord, Borden, Borden Shaft, Zihlman and other smaller communities in this area will be included as guests of honor.

The junior chamber of commerce has been informed concerning almost every detail of the 1919 reception for veterans of World War I and the members feel that, with all groups in the various communities co-operating, a similar reception for veterans of World War II could be equally successful.

The proceeds from the affair, the jaycees state in their letter calling the initial meeting, could be used to erect a permanent memorial to those who made the supreme sacrifice, and quite possibly to build a much needed park in Frostburg.

Memorial Day Program Announced

The combined committees of Farrady Post, American Legion, and the John R. Fairgrieve Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, in charge of the Memorial day services met last evening and completed the program. A large delegation from both posts will meet at the post rooms at 8:15 a. m., and with the Rev. Walter Mehrling, will visit local cemeteries on the following schedule: 9 a. m., Percy cemetery; 9:30, German Lutheran; 9:45, St. Michael's; 10:15, a.m., Vale Summit; 10:30, Porters; and 10:45, Eckhart.

At 1 p. m., there will be a service at the World War II memorial board, with the Rev. J. F. Zimmerman delivering the address. The Rev. Mr. Mehrling will offer the invocation. The Arion band will play and a salute to the dead will be fired by a firing squad composed of members of both veterans' organizations. The program will be closed with taps, two buglers taking part.

The program to be held in Allegany cemetery at 2:30 p. m., will be as follows: Invocation, the Rev. Francis E. Montgomery, administrator of St. Michael's Catholic church; selection by the Arion band; Memorial day recitation, Bernard Cordial; selection, glee club from Frostburg State Teachers college; Lincoln's Gettysburg address, Joseph Evans; selection, band; address, A. Charles Stewart; selection, glee club; benediction, the Rev. W. D. Reese, pastor of Welsh Baptist Memorial church; salute and taps, combined firing squads and two buglers.

The committee in charge of the affair consists of Earl R. Miller, James O. Spiker, James Knepp, William Festerman, Arthur Norris and Daniel Miller, representing the American Legion, and Ranson Nave, Harry Whetstone and Oscar Frost, representing the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Eighty Cent Tax Rate Is Approved For Westernport

City Fathers Call for Decrease in Traffic Violations

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT, May 21 — The tax rate for the year beginning June 1 was set at eighty cents on the $100 by Mayor J. Milton McIntyre and Commissioners of Westernport last night.

Commissioner George Kight, was appointed police commissioner to assist the mayor in supervising the policemen of the city with authority to arrest any violators.

A drive is being made among operators of motor vehicles in Westernport, with the emphasis on Westernport hill where, it is reported, coal trucks are disregarding the stop signs. Burza Hanlin, chief of police, and Trooper A. M. Spioch of the Maryland State Police, will stop all drivers who are speeding, disregarding stop signs and operating without adequate mufflers. The city authorities are determined that these law violations shall be discontinued.

A communication was read by J. Carr Getty, city clerk, from the Tri-Towns Memorial day committee requesting the Mayor and commissioners to participate in the Memorial day parade. The group will turn out in a body.

Mr. Getty reported that 686 garbage cards had been sold for this quarter.

It was stated that George Hall, of the state roads commission, complained about state traffic signs being molested and wanted the city to use some publicity about it. Mayor McIntyre warns that any person who damages or removes any such signs will be arrested and prosecuted.

The services of Virgil Sines who is employed to clean the screens at the dam will be discontinued after June 15. Thirty dollars a month will be saved as the water superintendent, Francis D. Glass, will do this work.

Repairs will be made on Riverside drive road.

Brutal Husband Doesn't Deserve Another Chance

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

If a husband has been brutal enough to cause his wife to leave him, will he be any kinder to her if she gives him another chance?

That's a question that many a mistreated wife has faced. Sometimes she gives herself the answer "Yes," and goes back; sometimes she's quite sure the only right answer is "No," and stays away from him. And I'm inclined to believe that in most cases, she's the smarter of the two.

Here's a woman who is asking herself the question but can't make up her mind how to answer it.

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"I am 22 years old and have been married three years. My husband never took me out. I was always alone. And he used to beat me up for no reason at all. But I loved him and would not leave him.

"Well, I was alone so long, and he used to go out with different girls, and would not support me, so I started a divorce proceeding. It hasn't come to court yet, but since then I've met a fellow who is very good to me, and he loves me dearly. My husband found out about him, and is begging me to go back, saying he'll be good and so forth. This other fellow doesn't want me to go back to him.

"I can't make up my mind. Although I try to forget my husband, I can't, but still I like this other fellow, as he is a grand person. What should I do?

Evidently you still have some love for your husband in your heart, or you wouldn't be so uncertain about what you want to do. And it may be that the only way you're ever going to feel satisfied in your own mind about this matter is to go back and make certain for yourself whether or not your husband is capable of changing and really wanting to act differently toward you.

Personally, I would feel rather doubtful that he has had any change of heart. Apparently he did not make any move to try and get you to come back to him until he heard you were thinking of marrying someone else. Some men are like that—dog - in - the - mangerish, you might say. They don't want their wives enough to make them happy, but they don't want to see any other man get them.

What your husband probably wants is merely to get you away from the other man, rather than to make amends to you. And once he has accomplished that purpose, and you are back in his power again, it's unlikely that you would find him any more faithful to you, any more thoughtful of you, or any less brutal than he was before. In fact, he'r probably angry at you for leaving him, and spiteful enough not to want to see anyone else make you happy, and so would be quite likely to take out his resentment and spite on you by making your life more miserable than ever.

I would definitely advise you against going back to this man, especially since you've once been decisive enough to leave him, and will only have to go through all that again if you find things don't go any better than they did before. But as I say, you may not be satisfied until you have tried living with him once more and prove to yourself that he's still the same man.

Five Schools Enter State Relay Carnival

75 Allegany Countians Will Vie in 14 Tests

Bruce, Beall, Central, Fort Hill, Allegany Enter College Park Carnival, June 1

Approximately seventy-five athletes from five Allegany county high schools will compete in the state high school relay carnival to be held under the auspices of the Health and Physical Education Association of Maryland Schools at the University of Maryland, College Park, Saturday, June 1, it was announced yesterday by Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of pupil personnel for Allegany county schools and executive board member representing Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick counties.

For experimental purposes the meet this year will be confined to pupils in grades ten, eleven and twelve. Pupils enrolled in any grades below these are ineligible to compete.

Between 15 and 20 boys each will represent Allegany and Fort Hill, which will compete in Class A, for schools with enrollment of 500 or more as of September 30, 1945. Allegany's enrollment at that time was 684 and Fort Hill's 648.

Beall high school, Frostburg, will be represented by fifteen athletes in Class B, for schools with enrollment from 300 to 499. Beall's enrollment was 493.

Central, of Lonaconing, with an enrollment of 179, and Bruce, of Westernport, with an enrollment of 257, will compete in Class C for schools whose enrollment is from 150 to 299.

Six Events for Class A

For Class A the events are: 440 sprint relay, 880 yard sprint relay, mile relay and three medley relays.

A contestant may compete in two events, but his total distance may not exceed 1,320 yards. This applies to all classifications.

For Class B schools the events are 440 yard sprint relay, 880 yard sprint relay, mile relay and two medley relays while the events for Class C schools are 440 yard sprint relay and two medley relays.

Despite the fact that the events in the county meet on Friday, May 24 do not coincide with the relays for the state meet, still the events on the program include all that appear on the state program, and can furnish coaches with an accurate appraisal of the abilities needed to round out strong teams for the College Park contests.

286 Boys of Seven Schools To Compete In Friday Contests

Two hundred and eighty-six boys from seven senior and junior high schools will participate in the first Allegany county track and field meet since 1941 on Friday at noon in the Fort Hill Stadium, according to Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of pupil personnel for the Allegany County Board of Education.

The program will comprise thirty-nine events, sixteen for junior high schools and twenty-three for senior high schools.

The entries from each school are as follows:

Allegany	24	30
Beall	22	25

Feller Chalks Up Sixth Win of Year Over Yankees, 7-2

Cleveland Ace Runs Total Strikeouts to 93 by Fanning Eight

CLEVELAND, May 21—(AP)—Bobby Feller chalked up his sixth victory of the year today and ran his strike out total to ninety-three in eighty innings by fanning eight New York Yankees in Cleveland's 7-2 conquest of the Yanks.

Feller, who hurled a 1-0 no-hit no-run victory against the Yanks in New York April 30, held New York hitless for the first four and two-third innings to stretch his skein over the Yanks to 13 and two-third hitless innings.

Bill Dickey broke Feller's spell with a single to right after two were out in the fifth. The Yanks collected three more hits in the seventh including Tommy Henrich's fourth homer of the year and their fifth and final safety in the eighth.

BOSOX BEAT DETROIT

DETROIT, May 21—(AP)—Earl Johnson, blond southpaw relief hurler, pitched and batted the Boston Red Sox to a 6 to 4 victory here today over the Detroit Tigers, climaxing an uphill battle by driving in the last two Boston runs with an eighth inning double.

Johnson, achieving his third victory in relief this season, pitched five innings of hitless ball after Tigers had profited by sloppy Red Sox play to get away to an early 4-0 lead.

By coming from behind with a twelve-hit attack, Boston erased the sting of four early errors and a wild pitch that gave Detroit all its runs in the first two innings.

The triumph, Boston's fifth in six starts against the Tigers, boosted the Red Sox's league lead to six full games over second place New York. Box:

Three teams went into a deadlock for first place yesterday in the Rocking Chair Softball League when the Knights of Columbus, defending champions, the Woodmen of the World and the Knights of Pythias registered their season victories of the 1946 campaign.

The Caseys took the Loyal Order of Moose into camp at Campobello by the score of 4 to 2. Freddie Palmer was the "big gun" for the Knights with three hits, one a circuit smash in the third inning. Ed Milbrada garnered two hits, one a two-bagger. Russ Minnicks and Jackson accounted for half of the Moose team's four safeties.

Lee Tosses Two-Hitter

Brace Lee tossed a two-hitter and helped his cause by smashing a home run as the Woodmen of the World turned back the Texcel Club on the Rolling Mill field by the score of 4 to 0.

Jack Often's triple and Holshey's fly produced the Woodmen's first run in the second frame while three hits accounted for as many tallies in the sixth. Texcel obtained its two hits in the second inning but the rally was nipped in the bud by a fast double play executed by Wharton and Reitmier. Vern Wharton played brilliantly for the victors, handling eight chances at third base without a slipup. Often belted a single and triple for two of the Woodmen's six hits.

Pythians Humble P. E.

The Knights of Pythias unloosed a 15-hit attack to sink Potomac Edison on East Side field, 12 to 8.

Charley Cubbage and "Buck" Robertson each hit safely three times, one of the latter's wallops being a home run. Allen and Long obtained three hits each for the losers while Minke homered in the third.

In other games, the B.P.O. Elks, with Wilkinson pitching, whitewashed the Cumberland Outdoor Club, 9 to 0, at Fort Hill while "Sparky" Chisholm hurled Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, to a 12 to 9 victory over the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce at Taylor field.

Browns Beat Mackmen In Night Game, 4-3

ST. LOUIS, May 21 (AP)—The determined St. Louis Browns behind Jack Kramer won 4 to 3 tonight against the seven-hit pitching of young Bob Savage and Russ Christopher and salvaged their only victory of a three-game series with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Savage wavered in the sixth despite Catcher Buddy Rosar's efforts to calm him after Grace got his third hit to four for the night with only one out. Lou Finney, batting for Glenn McQuillen, and Lucadello both walked, loading the bases for Walt Judnich's smashing single which scored two Brownie runs. Mark Christman's single to left added a third. Savage went out in favor of Christopher, who forced Chuck Stevens to ground into a double play. Score:

Max Elbin Is Named Pro For Capital Golf Club

Cumberlander Chosen To Succeed Worsham at the Burning Tree Country Club June 1

BETHESDA, Md., May 21 (AP)—Roger J. Whiteford, president of the Burning Tree Country Club, announced today that Max Elbin, of Cumberland, had been appointed professional at the Washington golf course.

Elbin replaces Lew Worsham.

Elbin, a veteran of the Second World war, served as assistant professional at the Burning Tree Country Club, an exclusive men's club, for two seasons prior to entering the armed forces four years ago. He was the crew chief in the United States Army Air Corps and saw service in New Guinea, the Philippines and Japan.

The promotion of Elbin as pro at the Washington club came when Lew Worsham became playing professional at the Congressional Country Club, Washington, D. C. The latter will take over his new duties on June 1, at which time Elbin will assume his new post at Burning Tree. Worsham has held the position of pro at Burning Tree since 1939. Worsham, incidentally, won Middle Atlantic PGA thirty-six hole championship tournament at the Woodholme Country Club, Baltimore, on Monday with a score of 141.

Elbin, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Elbin, 247 Bond street, this city, is a graduate of Allegany high school Class of 1938, and took his first interest in golf at the Cumberland Country Club, where he served as caddy for eight years. After being graduated from high school he spent one winter at the Indian Creek Country Club, Miami Beach, Fla.

Mrs. Elbin was Miss Mary Frances Kelly, of this city. They have a two-year-old daughter, Carolyn Irene. The Elbins make their home at 212 North Lee street.

Five Schools Enter State Relay Carnival

75 Allegany Countians Will Vie in 14 Tests

Bruce, Beall, Central, Fort Hill, Allegany Enter College Park Carnival, June 1

Approximately seventy-five athletes from five Allegany county high schools will compete in the state high school relay carnival to be held under the auspices of the Health and Physical Education Association of Maryland Schools at the University of Maryland, College Park, Saturday, June 1, it was announced yesterday by Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of pupil personnel for Allegany county schools and executive board member representing Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick counties.

For experimental purposes the meet this year will be confined to pupils in grades ten, eleven and twelve. Pupils enrolled in any grades below these are ineligible to compete.

Between 15 and 20 boys each will represent Allegany and Fort Hill, which will compete in Class A, for schools with enrollment of 500 or more as of September 30, 1945. Allegany's enrollment at that time was 684 and Fort Hill's 648.

Beall high school, Frostburg, will be represented by fifteen athletes in Class B, for schools with enrollment from 300 to 499. Beall's enrollment was 493.

Central, of Lonaconing, with an enrollment of 179, and Bruce, of Westernport, with an enrollment of 257, will compete in Class C for schools whose enrollment is from 150 to 299.

Six Events for Class A

For Class A the events are: 440 sprint relay, 880 yard sprint relay, mile relay and three medley relays.

A contestant may compete in two events, but his total distance may not exceed 1.320 yards. This applies to all classifications.

For Class B schools the events are 440 yard sprint relay, 880 yard sprint relay, mile relay and two medley relays while the events for Class C schools are 440 yard sprint relay and two medley relays.

Despite the fact that the events in the county meet on Friday, May 24 do not coincide with the relays for the state meet, still the events on the program include all that appear on the state program, and can furnish coaches with an accurate appraisal of the abilities needed to round out strong teams for the College Park contests.

286 Boys of Seven Schools To Compete In Friday Contests

Two hundred and eighty-six boys from seven senior and junior high schools will participate in the first Allegany county track and field meet since 1941 on Friday at noon in the Fort Hill Stadium, according to Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of pupil personnel for the Allegany County Board of Education.

The program will comprise thirty-nine events, sixteen for junior high schools and twenty-three for senior high schools.

The entries from each school are as follows:

Cleveland Ace Runs Total Strikeouts to 93 by Fanning Eight

CLEVELAND, May 21—(AP)—Bobby Feller chalked up his sixth victory of the year today and ran his strike out total to ninety-three in eighty innings by fanning eight New York Yankees in Cleveland's 7-2 conquest of the Yanks.

Bill Dickey broke Feller's spell with a single to right after two were out in the fifth. The Yanks collected three more hits in the seventh including Tommy Henrich's fourth homer of the year and their fifth and final safety in the eighth. Box:

BOSOX BEAT DETROIT

DETROIT, May 21—(AP)—Earl Johnson, blond southpaw relief hurler, pitched and batted the Boston Red Sox to a 6 to 4 victory here today over the Detroit Tigers, climaxing an uphill battle by driving in the last two Boston runs with an eighth inning double.

Johnson, achieving his third victory in relief this season, pitched five innings of hitless ball after Tigers had profited by sloppy Red Sox play to get away to an early 4-0 lead.

By coming from behind with a twelve-hit attack, Boston erased the sting of four early errors and a wild pitch that gave Detroit all its runs in the first two innings.

The triumph, Boston's fifth in six starts against the Tigers, boosted the Red Sox's league lead to six full games over second place New York. Box:

Three teams went into a deadlock for first place yesterday in the Rocking Chair Softball League when the Knights of Columbus, defending champions, the Woodmen of the World and the Knights of Pythias registered their season victories of the 1946 campaign.

The Caseys took the Loyal Order of Moose into camp at Campobello by the score of 4 to 2. Freddie Palmer was the "big gun" for the Knights with three hits, one a circuit smash in the third inning. Ed Milbrada garnered two hits, one a two-bagger. Russ Minnicks and Jackson accounted for half of the Moose team's four safeties.

Lee Tosses Two-Hitter

Brace Lee tossed a two-hitter and helped his cause by smashing a home run as the Woodmen of the World turned back the Texcel Club on the Rolling Mill field by the score of 4 to 0.

Jack Often's triple and Holshey's fly produced the Woodmen's first run in the second frame while three hits accounted for as many tallies in the sixth. Texcel obtained its two hits in the second inning but the rally was nipped in the bud by a fast double play executed by Wharton and Reitmier. Vern Wharton played brilliantly for the victors, handling eight chances at third base without a slipup. Often belted a single and triple for two of the Woodmen's six hits.

Pythians Humble P. E.

The Knights of Pythias unloosed a 15-hit attack to sink Potomac Edison on East Side field, 12 to 8.

Charley Cubbage and "Buck" Robertson each hit safely three times, one of the latter's wallops being a home run. Allen and Long obtained three hits each for the losers while Minke homered in the third.

In other games, the B.P.O. Elks, with Wilkinson pitching, whitewashed the Cumberland Outdoor Club, 9 to 0, at Fort Hill while "Sparky" Chisholm hurled Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, to a 12 to 9 victory over the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce at Taylor field.

Browns Beat Mackmen In Night Game, 4-3

ST. LOUIS, May 21 (AP)—The determined St. Louis Browns behind Jack Kramer won 4 to 3 tonight against the seven-hit pitching of young Bob Savage and Russ Christopher and salvaged their only victory of a three-game series with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Savage wavered in the sixth despite Catcher Buddy Rosar's efforts to calm him after Grace got his third hit to four for the night with only one out. Lou Finney, batting for Glenn McQuillen, and Lucadello both walked, loading the bases for Walt Judnich's smashing single which scored two Brownie runs. Mark Christman's single to left added a third. Savage went out in favor of Christopher, who forced Chuck Stevens to ground into a double play. Score:

Max Elbin Is Named Pro For Capital Golf Club

Cumberlander Chosen To Succeed Worsham at the Burning Tree Country Club June 1

BETHESDA, Md., May 21 (AP)—Roger J. Whiteford, president of the Burning Tree Country Club, announced today that Max Elbin, of Cumberland, had been appointed professional at the Washington golf course.

Elbin replaces Lew Worsham.

Elbin, a veteran of the Second World war, served as assistant professional at the Burning Tree Country Club, an exclusive men's club, for two seasons prior to entering the armed forces four years ago. He was the crew chief in the United States Army Air Corps and saw service in New Guinea, the Philippines and Japan.

The promotion of Elbin as pro at the Washington club came when Lew Worsham became playing professional at the Congressional Country Club, Washington, D. C. The latter will take over his new duties on June 1, at which time Elbin will assume his new post at Burning Tree. Worsham has held the position of pro at Burning Tree since 1939. Worsham, incidentally, won Middle Atlantic PGA thirty-six hole championship tournament at the Woodholme Country Club, Baltimore, on Monday with a score of 141.

Elbin, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Elbin, 247 Bond street, this city, is a graduate of Allegany high school Class of 1938, and took his first interest in golf at the Cumberland Country Club, where he served as caddy for eight years. After being graduated from high school he spent one winter at the Indian Creek Country Club, Miami Beach, Fla.

Mrs. Elbin was Miss Mary Frances Kelly, of this city. They have a two-year-old daughter, Carolyn Irene. The Elbins make their home at 212 North Lee street.

36 Colleges Will Vie at Annapolis

Cadets Loom as Team To Beat in IC4A Meet Saturday

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 21 (AP) — There will be representatives from thirty-six colleges at Annapolis Saturday for the IC4A track and field championships—but host Navy will be wariest of (and gunning for) its old rival, Army.

And its not only because the Keydets and the Middies will conduct their own dual meet along with the big affair.

Navy finished second to Army in the heptagonal meet at Princeton last Saturday, and what Tar Coach Earl Thomson saw there made him fairly certain that the Greylegs will be the "team to beat" in the IC4A.

Army's forte is in the field events—a division in which Navy is admittedly weak. What's more, the West Pointers are almost as good on the cinder track as they are in the field.

Meanwhile, from State College, Pa., comes word that Penn State's hopes for a title in the championships will rest with Jim Sykes, 31-year-old high jumper and war veteran.

Sykes, father of a son, 10, was a standout freshman athlete at Penn State five years ago, and has reached peak form this spring. In the dual meet with Colgate recently, Sykes cleared the bar at 6 feet, 5½ inches for a new Penn State record. The previous mark of 6 feet, 2 inches, was set by Dick Smith in 1940.

Coach Chick Werner of Penn State points out that 6 feet 5½ inches has been topped only three times since 1876 in IC4A competition. The IC4A record of 6 feet, 6⅝ inches was set by Delos Thurber of Southern California in 1938.

Louis, Conn Swamped With Ticket Requests

NEW YORK, May 21 (AP) — Joe Louis and Billy Conn took this day off from their lake side fight training camps and visited Promoter Mike Jacobs

The heavyweights, who'll fight for Louis's heavyweight title June 19, have been swamped with requests for tickets and they brought their burdens to Mike.

They'll resume boxing at their camps Thursday.

Clark Griffith Says Washington Will Cop Pennant

Contends Senators Have Best Balanced Club in the League

By BUS HAM

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—This may shock the Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees:

The Washington Senators are going to beat them out in the American league pennant race—Clark Griffith says so.

The white-haired old gentleman who directs the Senators, currently sizzling through the west, put it this way in an interview:

"I'm not saying that the Red Sox and Yankees aren't good ball clubs—they are, darn good, in fact—but we're going to beat them out.

"We're going to do so because we're the best balanced club in the league. We may not be the flashiest but we're sound defensively with a wider spread in our hitting and pitching strength.

"We may not have a Joe DiMaggio or Ted Williams but I wouldn't trade our batting order from top to bottom for any other crew in the league.

"And our pitching strength will tell more and more as the race stretches out. We don't have to rely on two or three standouts; We've got seven or eight pitchers who can win.

"What would become of the Red Sox if anything happened to Tex Hughson, Dave Ferriss or Lefty Harris? or to the Yankees if Spud Chandler, their only real ace, ran into trouble? They'd drop way off.

"But we could get along without Roger Wolff or Dutch Leonard or some of the others and sail right along."

Griffith isn't forgetting that the Red Sox and Yankees mauled the Senators in six of eight games at the start of the season.

"That's what I'm talking about," he said. "They were ready for a fast start and we weren't. But we're rolling now."

Test of Rocket Power Speedster Is Success

INDIANAPOLIS, May 21 (AP) — Duke Nalon, Beverly Hills, Calif., driver, tried out his auxiliary rocket power speedster at the Indianapolis motor speedway today and pronounced the test a success.

Although the run was not timed officially, the dapper pilot said his car was traveling at the rate of 100 miles an hour when he fired a four-second Jato rocket and that the speed increased to "130 miles an hour and possibly 140."

HYPNOTIC WINS OVER RED SHOES BY FOUR LENGTHS AT BELMONT

Captures Coaching Club American Oaks and $21,180 Purse

BELMONT PARK, N. Y., May 21 (AP)—While Bonnie Beryl, considered the star of William Woodward's three-ply entry, was struggling home a distant third, stablemate Hypnotic saved the day for the New York establishment by speeding to a four lengths victory in the thirtieth Coaching Club American Oaks this rainy afternoon.

Well beaten in recent starts, Hypnotic revealed surprising speed as she took the $21,180 first money with four lengths to spare. Howell E. Jackson's Pimlico Oaks winner Red Shoes, which went postward a slight choice over the Woodward trio, finished second by five lengths, with Bonnie Beryl third. Mrs. W. P. Stewart's Rytina was a laboring fourth. Foxglove, third member of the winning entry, brought up the rear in the long journey of a mile and three furlongs.

As only three interests were represented in the field of five (there were 137 nominations when the coveted event for three year old fillies closed in May of last year) the crowd of 22,855 could wager only to win. Hypnotic paid $4.10 and "got back" in 2:18 4-5 over a track still fast despite the showers. Red Shoes went postward at 85 cents on the dollar, with Rytina the outsider.

A notable absentee from the small field was William Helis's Earshot, the filly that finished a close second to Red Shoes in the Pimlico Oaks and later led home Bonnie Beryl in the Acorn Stakes here. Earshot was not nominated for the Coaching Club, unfortunately.

Lowly Phillies Rally in Sixth, Beat Cards, 4-3

Setback Drops St. Louis into First Place Tie with Dodgers

PHILADELPHIA, May 21 (AP) — Coming from behind the Philadelphia Phillies rallied for three runs in the sixth inning today to trip the St. Louis Cardinals, 4 to 3, and drop the Redbirds into a first place tie with the idle Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Phillies hammered Ted Wilks and Fred Martin for five hits in the sixth. The uprising was touched off by Ron Northey leading the frame with a home run over the right field wall, his third of the season. Box:

36 Colleges Will Vie at Annapolis

Cadets Loom as Team To Beat in IC4A Meet Saturday

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 21 (AP) — There will be representatives from thirty-six colleges at Annapolis Saturday for the IC4A track and field championships—but host Navy will be wariest of (and gunning for) its old rival, Army.

And its not only because the Keydets and the Middies will conduct their own dual meet along with the big affair.

Navy finished second to Army in the heptagonal meet at Princeton last Saturday, and what Tar Coach Earl Thomson saw there made him fairly certain that the Greylegs will be the "team to beat" in the IC4A.

Army's forte is in the field events—a division in which Navy is admittedly weak. What's more, the West Pointers are almost as good on the cinder track as they are in the field.

Meanwhile, from State College, Pa., comes word that Penn State's hopes for a title in the championships will rest with Jim Sykes, 31-year-old high jumper and war veteran.

Sykes, father of a son, 10, was a standout freshman athlete at Penn State five years ago, and has reached peak form this spring. In the dual meet with Colgate recently, Sykes cleared the bar at 6 feet, 5½ inches for a new Penn State record. The previous mark of 6 feet, 2 inches, was set by Dick Smith in 1940.

Coach Chick Werner of Penn State points out that 6 feet 5½ inches has been topped only three times since 1876 in IC4A competition. The IC4A record of 6 feet, 6⅝ inches was set by Delos Thurber of Southern California in 1938.

Clark Griffith Says Washington Will Cop Pennant

Contends Senators Have Best Balanced Club in the League

By BUS HAM

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—This may shock the Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees:

The Washington Senators are going to beat them out in the American league pennant race—Clark Griffith says so.

The white-haired old gentleman who directs the Senators, currently sizzling through the west, put it this way in an interview:

"I'm not saying that the Red Sox and Yankees aren't good ball clubs—they are, darn good, in fact—but we're going to beat them out.

"We're going to do so because we're the best balanced club in the league. We may not be the flashiest but we're sound defensively with a wider spread in our hitting and pitching strength.

"We may not have a Joe DiMaggio or Ted Williams but I wouldn't trade our batting order from top to bottom for any other crew in the league.

"And our pitching strength will tell more and more as the race stretches out. We don't have to rely on two or three standouts; We've got seven or eight pitchers who can win.

"What would become of the Red Sox if anything happened to Tex Hughson, Dave Ferriss or Lefty Harris? or to the Yankees if Spud Chandler, their only real ace, ran into trouble? They'd drop way off.

"But we could get along without Roger Wolff or Dutch Leonard or some of the others and sail right along."

Griffith isn't forgetting that the Red Sox and Yankees mauled the Senators in six of eight games at the start of the season.

"That's what I'm talking about," he said. "They were ready for a fast start and we weren't. But we're rolling now."

Test of Rocket Power Speedster Is Success

INDIANAPOLIS, May 21 (AP) — Duke Nalon, Beverly Hills, Calif., driver, tried out his auxiliary rocket power speedster at the Indianapolis motor speedway today and pronounced the test a success.

Although the run was not timed officially, the dapper pilot said his car was traveling at the rate of 100 miles an hour when he fired a four-second Jato rocket and that the speed increased to "130 miles an hour and possibly 140."

HYPNOTIC WINS OVER RED SHOES BY FOUR LENGTHS AT BELMONT

Captures Coaching Club American Oaks and $21,180 Purse

BELMONT PARK, N. Y., May 21 (AP)—While Bonnie Beryl, considered the star of William Woodward's three-ply entry, was struggling home a distant third, stablemate Hypnotic saved the day for the New York establishment by speeding to a four lengths victory in the thirtieth Coaching Club American Oaks this rainy afternoon.

Well beaten in recent starts, Hypnotic revealed surprising speed as she took the $21,180 first money with four lengths to spare. Howell E. Jackson's Pimlico Oaks winner Red Shoes, which went postward a slight choice over the Woodward trio, finished second by five lengths, with Bonnie Beryl third. Mrs. W. P. Stewart's Rytina was a laboring fourth. Foxglove, third member of the winning entry, brought up the rear in the long journey of a mile and three furlongs.

As only three interests were represented in the field of five (there were 137 nominations when the coveted event for three year old fillies closed in May of last year) the crowd of 22,855 could wager only to win. Hypnotic paid $4.10 and "got back" in 2:18 4-5 over a track still fast despite the showers. Red Shoes went postward at 85 cents on the dollar, with Rytina the outsider.

A notable absentee from the small field was William Helis's Earshot, the filly that finished a close second to Red Shoes in the Pimlico Oaks and later led home Bonnie Beryl in the Acorn Stakes here. Earshot was not nominated for the Coaching Club, unfortunately.

Only Women Can Save Democracy, Miss Brown Says

Speaker Urges Republican Women To Use Ballots, Keep Well Informed

Democracy is doomed unless women living in a democracy take an active part in functional government, Miss Helen Elizabeth Brown, assistant city solicitor of Baltimore and former president of the Women's Bar Association of Baltimore, said yesterday evening.

Miss Brown addressed 150 members of the Women's Republican Club at the annual informal spring dinner party of the organization, held at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

"Women have a faculty of going to the heart of things and facing facts," Miss Brown said. "They have shown that they are realists in government. Democracies have been deprived of these and other needed qualities women can furnish."

Cites Women Rulers

Citing Queen Elizabeth of England, who laid the foundations for the British navy, and Empress Elizabeth of Russia, who in the eighteenth century commanded her forces so effectively that she defeated the imperialistic aims of Frederick the Great of Prussia, the speaker said that an advantage of some of the older forms of government was that they often had the balance and wisdom brought to them by women administrators.

"If women of the caliber of some of the great women rulers of the past had been in power in the ministries and chancellories of Europe and in our own country when the recent world catastrophe was in the making, the story might have been different," Miss Brown stated.

Calling upon all women to keep themselves informed on public affairs and to use their ballots to see that women have equal representation in government, Miss Brown said that "it is a shame and a disgrace that in the greatest republic in the world there is no woman in the Senate and only a handful in the House of Representatives."

Guests Are Introduced

Group reading of the Women's Collect was held at the beginning of the meeting instead of the usual invocation. Following the dinner, Mrs. David Steele, president, introduced guests from Frostburg and Hagerstown, including Mrs. H. D. Kline, Hagerstown, secretary of the Maryland State Federation of Republican Women; Miss Frances Berger, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Kenneth Simms, treasurer of the Hagerstown Republican Women's Club; and Mrs. J. Glenn Beall,

Gibson Pictures City Finances For Rotarians

Stressing the importance of local self-government and the need for intelligent interest by all citizens therein, Arthur V. Gibson, city auditor, presented a picture of city finances yesterday to Rotarians.

While disclaiming any intention of advocating a specific new form of municipal government here, Gibson noted that the present commissioner type presents many difficulties by combining legislative and administrative functions in the city officiate.

Gibson spoke as a pinch-hitter with short-notice preparation to fill the program vacancy caused by the illness of Pvt. Marion Hargrove, forum speaker, who was unable to come to Cumberland for the third time in recent weeks.

Restrictions on financial management were noted as a distinct handicap in the present city government, Gibson stated. They are imposed by the tax rate limitation of seventy-five cents, now temporarily ninety cents; special city legislation at Annapolis and the charter limitation on bonded indebtedness, which may not exceed ten per cent of the total assessed valuation. The bonded indebtedness is now forty per cent of the allowance.

Thus, little discretion in financial management is left to the mayor and city council, Gibson said.

Birthday honors were accorded Edward R. Allan.

Visitors included Juan Y. Blume and Pedro Ventura, Rotarians of Lima, Peru, who are connected with the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company; C. R. Nuzum, Keyser, W. Va., also a Rotarian; Andy Cohill, Hagerstown, and Thomas V. Pierce, Tucson, Ariz., former Cumberland banker, who was president of the Liberty Trust Company.

"Some Progress" Is Reported on Strike At Peskin's Store

"Some progress" was reported yesterday in the dispute between Peskin's shoe store here and Local 654, Retail Clerks Union, as employes continued their tenth day of picketing.

William McGinnis, Pittsburgh, international representative of the clerks union, and William Krapf, president of Local 322, Meat Cutters Union, met with Frederick A. Puderbaugh and William C. Walsh, company attorneys, in an attempt to settle the dispute.

McGinnis said settlement of the case hinges on the rehiring of one clerk and the union shop. Representatives of the store added the clerk would be rehired if the union shop issue could be solved.

Local 654, Retail Clerks, at its meeting Monday announced that clerks who passed the picket line face "drastic action." McGinnis said the union has contracts with six stores here and represents at least sixty-five per cent of clerks here.

Local 322, Meat Cutters Union, will meet Monday evening at 8 o'clock in Teamsters hall. A check on the progress of the present organization drive will be made at the meeting, according to Krapf.

Cat-astrophe Averted By Police Sergeant

When your favorite cat gets its tail wrapped around the shaft of a washing machine it is high time to call for help.

Central Fire Company reported that at 1:30 p. m. yesterday, they received a call from a Polk street home asking that they help to release the creature which was caught in the machine. Firemen said they were unable to perform the mission but referred the caller to the police department.

A police sergeant went to the basement of the home and found that the animal was indeed caught in the mechanism. Police said the excited cat had already inflicted painful scratches on the hands of the cat's owner when she tried to get the animal loose.

Police said the officer and several men at the place were beginning to empty the water from the washing machine so they could tilt the machine and release the cat when the sergeant loosened several felt washers, reversed the motor shaft and unwound the cat's tail. Police added the cat was not badly injured in the accident.

Little Interest Shown in This Area in Seizure of Coal Mines

Operators Ready To Comply with President Truman's Order; United Mine Workers Officials Wait for Statement from John L. Lewis

The government's seizure of coal mines aroused little or no comment among coal miners, union officials and coal mine operators in this area, and indications late last night were that miners would continue working until further orders are received from United Mine Workers officials.

John T. Jones, president of District No. 16, UMWA, contacted in Washington, D. C., by telephone, told Cumberland News reporters he had no comment to make, had received no official information about the seizure or the union's plans, and added "all I know is what I read in the papers."

Jones said he had not been advised of any meeting of union heads called by John L. Lewis, president of the UMWA, but that he presumed Lewis would make a statement if there is anything to be said.

Robert J. Stallings, secretary of the Georges Creek Upper Potomac Coal Association, said last night he had received a telegram notifying him of President Harry Truman's executive order to have the government take over the mines at 12:01 a. m. today. He stated the operators will comply with the executive order and their mines will be open for work, if the miners want to work.

In some quarters, there was unofficial difference of opinion as to whether Lewis would order his miners to work after the twelve-day truce, following the forty-two day coal strike ends, or whether he would await orders from Lewis, and would comply with his instructions.

John P. Dolphin, representative of District No. 16, UMWA, contacted here last night, had not received any official notice of the president's seizure order, and said he could make no comment. Like Jones, he indicated that Lewis would probably issue a statement to the miners and for publication.

Local industries and others interested in the outcome were making no special preparations, and railroads officials said last night coal is still moving from mines in this area at a rate slightly above normal.

Action of Food Dealers on OPA Brings Replies

Letters from Sen Millard E. Tydings, Sen. George L. Radcliffe and Rep. J. Glenn Beall in response to a resolution forwarded to them by the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland asking for continuation of OPA for nine months with certain limitations in its administration, were read at a meeting of the association last night in Central YMCA.

Sen. Tydings wrote that he is "hopeful" the government "may soon be able to eliminate all wartime regimentation including the OPA, for I believe the sooner we remove the burdensome restrictions imposed on our system of free enterprise the sooner it will return to normal functioning and ample production."

Rep Beall wrote that the OPA measure had passed the House when he received the resolution, but that he had voted for the amendment which was in line with the request of the grocers.

Joseph G. Jackson, secretary of the association, said a mimeographed letter was received from Sen. Radcliffe and that he made no commmittment.

The OPA measure is now before the Banking and Currency committee of the Senate.

A committee was named to start making plans for the annual dinner in October. It is composed of A. E. Windish, chairman; Ralph W. Rice, Lyn Beightol, Ralph F. Sell, and Corfield Patterson.

Court Refuses Trainmaster's Divorce Plea

Jurists Also Deny Wife's Request for Permanent Alimony

The divorce petition of Hugh E. Wright, 53, assistant trainmaster of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, against Mrs. Margaret Wright, 52, was dismissed yesterday in an opinion handed down by Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge Walter C. Capper. The wife's cross-bill for permanent alimony was also dismissed by the court on the grounds that Mrs. Wright has sufficient income to support her comfortably.

Wright, who lives at the Queen City hotel, charged desertion in his petition docketed by Edward J. Ryan. The wife, represented by Harold E. Naughton, denied his allegations and asked for permanent alimony in her cross-bill.

Took Hotel Room

According to testimony in the case, Mrs. Wright was reluctant to give up a lucrative position paying her $4,500 a year when her husband came to Cumberland. However, testimony showed that she did obtain an apartment at 407 Washington street for her husband and visited him occasionally. Later Wright gave up the apartment and took a room at the Queen City hotel which was handier for him. In his testimony he referred to the apartment as an "inconvenient place" and "way up on a hill."

While living at the Queen City hotel, testimony showed, he wrote his wife, "Things have gone far enough and I am through with all that stuff you put out—so please don't worry me any more and let me alone."

Testimony also revealed that Wright had turned over all his property to his wife and that consequently Mrs. Wright is worth about $20,000 including real estate holdings and bonds.

Constituted Abandonment

In the opinion handed down by the court, Wright's charge that his wife deserted him was denied with the court pointing out that he locked his wife out of his hotel room and wrote her the aforementioned letter, both acts which constitute abandonment on his part.

In denying the wife's request for permanent alimony the court cited her income from various properties plus her yearly salary and said her income was obviously sufficient for her needs.

WIDOW OF CRASH VICTIM TO BE PAID $4,400 IN DAMAGES

Damages amounting to $4,400 plus interest of $16 will be paid to Mrs. Emma C. Lynch, Frostburg, as a result of an automobile accident last December on the National highway when her husband, Thomas Joseph Lynch, was killed.

Announcement was made Monday by attorneys in the case that a settlement of $400 had been made to Mrs. Lynch as the result of one suit filed against Arthur Robinson, the driver of the car that struck her husband. She had asked for $2,000 in this action, as administratrix of his estate.

Yesterday it was announced that a second suit for $20,000 had been settled out of court with the widow to receive $4,000 to be paid by Robinson. Her attorney, Edward J. Ryan, explained that Robinson's limit of liability, under insurance he carried, was $5,000. The $20,000 action was docketed in January by the State of Maryland for the use and benefit of Mrs. Lynch and her minor son Joseph Lynch, against Robinson.

The victim, who was employed at a local industrial plant, was driving to work during a heavy snowstorm last December 19, when he stopped at "Kelly's Pump," near Eckhart, to put on his tire chains, and was standing behind his car when he was hit by Robinson's machine. Lynch died the following day in a hospital.

Morgan C. Harris was counsel for Robinson in the two actions.

Discussion Dates Set for Nutrition Project Findings

Personnel of Unit Will Be at Three Schools for Talks with Parents

A schedule of discussion periods for parents of pupils at the Hammond street school, Westernport; the Luke school, and elementary pupils at Bruce high school, to meet with representatives of the federal nutrition unit and discuss findings of examinations held at the schools, was announced yesterday by Dr Joseph P. Franklin, city and county health officer.

Personnel of the unit, headed by Dr. John W. Smillie, have completed the examination of 120 fifth and sixth grade pupils at the Hammond street school, and sixty-eight pupils at the Luke school. The latter examination concluded yesterday at noon.

Approximately 180 pupils in the seventh and eighth grades at Bruce high school will be examined, beginning today. The current project, which is the first undertaken by the nutrition unit, will be completed by May 29.

Schedule Listed

The first discussion period for parents will be held Tuesday, June 11, at the Hammond street school, to be followed by similar periods Wednesday, June 12, at the Luke school, and Thursday, June 13, at Bruce, Dr. Franklin said. Personnel of the unit will be at the schools from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m., and from 1 to 3 p. m., on those days.

Notices to parents of the children examined are being prepared and will be sent out early in June. They will give the results of the physical inspection, stating whether or not signs suggesting nutritional deficiency were observed, and the results of the hemoglobin blood test. Based on the one-day diet history taken for each child, suggestions as to changes in diet may also be made.

Parents who have any questions regarding the findings are invited to attend the discussion periods to talk over the results with Dr. Smillie, or with the two nutritionists, public health nurse and chemist on the staff of the unit.

Principal Is Examined

Dr. Franklin said that thirty-four boys and thirty-four girls were examined in the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades at the Luke school Monday and yesterday. Examination is on a voluntary basis, subject to parents' consent, and all but two of the total number of pupils enrolled in those grades were examined. Of those two, one was absent when examinations were being conducted.

Three teachers, including the principal, William G. Fatkin, and two mothers of pupils, who were present to help with clerical work, also volunteered to undergo the examination.

Dr. Franklin said yesterday that Dr. Smillie will spend the week of June 3 through 9 at Hillman hospital, Birmingham, Ala., where he will attend a course in nutrition given by the American College of Physicians and headed by Dr. Tom Spies, noted nutrition expert. Heads of the other two nutrition units of the United States Public Health Service, located in Gainsville, Fla., and Royal Oak, Mich., will also attend the course.

Increase in Sale Of Lots Reported By County Board

A steady increase in the sale of lots which have been bought in at tax sale and other proceedings by the county in recent years was reported at yesterday's meeting of the county commissioners.

Members of the board said that offers are being received daily for lots which were purchased many years ago by the county and for which there had been no offers until recently

The board yesterday accepted an offer from M. D. Reinhart for Lot 39, on the south side of Laing avenue, formerly owned by Mary Lawler. Reinhart offered $300 and explained that he is seeking to buy an adjoining lot from the city.

Upon the advice of Somerville Nicholson, supervisor of assessments, bids for four other lots in the South End were rejected. L. B. Park offered $200 for Lots 298 and 299 on Lafayette avenue, but Nicholson said they were valued at $150 each. Park then offered $150 for Lot 298, and it was accepted.

The board rejected the offer of $325 from Allen Schlosberg for Lots 67 and 68 on Pennsylvania avenue, after Nicholson said they were valued at $250 each.

Ask Lodge Exemption

John C. German and Fred S. Goss, representing Mountain City Camp, No. 6, Woodmen of the World, asked for a county tax exemption on the W. O. W. building at 144 Union street. The home properties of fraternal organizations are exempt by law from tax exemptions. An investigation of the request will be made by Nicholson and R. Mason Hill, assistant county supervisor of assessments.

Lester B. Reed requested that the county roll the Barrellville bascball field, and the request was granted.

Mrs. George Shumaker reported that county road workers had removed a bridge while working on the Frog Hollow Road, three miles from Oldtown, and did not replace it. County Engineer John H. Carscaden was instructed to investigate.

Mrs. Lloyd Hoffman, Mrs. Paul Beckworth and J. W. Nicodemus asked that a culvert be placed in Main street, Potomac Park, in order that traffic may use the street from the McMullen Highway to Cresap Road. The street now has two "dead ends," due to the lack of a culvert at that point. The engineer will investigate.

Henry Hart Post Elects Delegates

Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, met last night at their home, Union street, and selected a total of 158 delegates, including Commander Raymond Reynolds and ten past commanders, to attend the annual encampment to be held in Baltimore June 28, 29, 30.

This means the local organization, the largest post in the state, will have the largest representation at the state convention, since delegates are based upon the number of members in the post, Commander Reynolds explained.

Forty-seven veterans of World War II joined the organization last night, bringing the post's total membership to 2,189 paid-up members.

Among the new members who spoke at the meeting were William H. Geppert and John T. Fey, local attorneys; Martin Schrader and Robert Crouse.

The post voted to contribute $55 to the Police Boys club camp fund, to send five boys to summer camp at Minco Park.

Announcement was made that the post's new ambulance has now been completely equipped and is ready for emergency service on call, twenty-four hours a day.

Ranford Ambrose, chairman of the Memorial committee, called a meeting of the committee for Sunday at 9 a. m., at which time the graves of all veterans, buried in local cemeteries, will be decorated.

Swearingen Gets Award for Public Service at Dinner

Kelly - Springfield Brand Name Receives Recognition at Baltimore Event

Henry C. Swearingen, Cumberland, vice president and general sales manager of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, last night received the Certificate of Public Service of the Brand Names Research Foundation at a testimonial dinner attended by Baltimore business leaders, radio, newspaper and advertising executives at the Belvedere hotel, Baltimore.

The certificate honored the name of his product, Kelly-Springfield, which has been in constant use by the public for fifty-two years. Only brand names which have served the public for over fifty years qualify for the award which was created by the foundation to recognize the proven value of brand names in their service to the consumer public.

Swearingen formerly was field sales representative for Kelly-Springfield in Omaha. He also opened the factory branch of the Kelly-Springfield Company in Chicago. He has lived in Cumberland for the last twelve years.

For Maryland Firms

The testimonial dinner was for those Maryland firms in the Baltimore trade area whose brand names won the award, and was the fifth in a series which ultimately will be held in all trade centers throughout the country.

The presentation was made by A. O. Buckingham, vice president of Cluett, Peabody and Company, and chairman of the foundation. The citation describing the long history of responsible service to the public of the brand name Kelly-Springfield, was made by Henry E. Abt, foundation secretary and managing director.

Expression of Responsibility

In presenting the awards, officers of the foundation said, "Brand names, in combination with advertising of those names, make possible mass production and the resulting wider distribution at minimum cost to the consumer. Thus brand names continuously raise the living standard of the American people by stimulating competition between goods identified by the responsible manufacturers' brand names. Brand identification is an expression of the manufacturers' confidence in his product."

Swearingen today will be guest of honor with other award recipients, of the Advertising Club of Baltimore at a luncheon in the Emerson hotel.

Rawlings Charge Unanimously Asks Return of Pastor

Members of the Rawlings Charge of the Methodist church unanimously asked for the return of the Rev. Louis P. Chastain for another year with an increase of $200 salary, at the fourth quarterly conference of the charge held at the Rawlings church.

The Rev. W. F. Wright, Hagerstown, superintendent of the Hagerstown district, presided and the Rev. Mr. Chastain gave his report for the charge, which includes the Cresaptown, Dawson and Rawlings churches.

He reported that the goals for an additional 100 membership; a decided increase in the Sunday school and payment of the parsonage indebtedness in full, have been reached. He stated that he was thankful to announce that "the charge has paid for the parsonage in two years; has overpaid its crusade quota by more than $600; has overpaid its World's Service askings by $50; has already paid in full all current expenses and will have a very substantial balance of about $900 on hand."

Far from a summer slump there was instead an intensification of effort as revivals in both the Rawlings and Dawson churches were held, with 162 families contacted in the former and 131 in the latter. In addition the activities included Daily Vacation Bible schools at the Cresaptown and Rawlings churches; a weekend camping trip for twenty-six members of the Youth Fellowship groups; a Sunday school softball team from Cresaptown, which won the championship in the church league against fifteen competing teams; a training school for officers and teachers of the Rawlings Sunday school for a ten week period; the operating of a Sunday school bus between Rawlings and Danville; and ex-servicemen's class in the Cresaptown Sunday school.

An honor roll was presented by D. A. Densock, in memory of his son, Robert; and a permanent roll of honor record book, presented by the Young Adults. Their next project is an amplifier to be placed in the church tower. The Dawson Sunday school has purchased a Christian and National flag and a pulpit light.

In forwarding the second phase of the Crusade for Christ, namely that of Evangelism, the Rev. Mr. Chastain reported that 146 families were visited in the Dawson visitation; sixty-three in Rawlings; and 476 in Cresaptown. Dawson and Cresaptown will continue this type of evangelism during the coming year; and the good will created by it has already been reflected in the increased attendance at the Sunday school. The Crusade report is as follows, Cresaptown, $1,243.80; Rawlings, $359; and Dawson, $312.

Only Women Can Save Democracy, Miss Brown Says

Speaker Urges Republican Women To Use Ballots, Keep Well Informed

Democracy is doomed unless women living in a democracy take an active part in functional government, Miss Helen Elizabeth Brown, assistant city solicitor of Baltimore and former president of the Women's Bar Association of Baltimore, said yesterday evening.

Miss Brown addressed 150 members of the Women's Republican Club at the annual informal spring dinner party of the organization, held at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

"Women have a faculty of going to the heart of things and facing facts," Miss Brown said. "They have shown that they are realists in government. Democracies have been deprived of these and other needed qualities women can furnish."

Cites Women Rulers

Citing Queen Elizabeth of England, who laid the foundations for the British navy, and Empress Elizabeth of Russia, who in the eighteenth century commanded her forces so effectively that she defeated the imperialistic aims of Frederick the Great of Prussia, the speaker said that an advantage of some of the older forms of government was that they often had the balance and wisdom brought to them by women administrators.

"If women of the caliber of some of the great women rulers of the past had been in power in the ministries and chancelleries of Europe and in our own country when the recent world catastrophe was in the making, the story might have been different," Miss Brown stated.

Calling upon all women to keep themselves informed on public affairs and to use their ballots to see that women have equal representation in government, Miss Brown said that "it is a shame and a disgrace that in the greatest republic in the world there is no woman in the Senate and only a handful in the House of Representatives."

Guests Are Introduced

Group reading of the Women's Collect was held at the beginning of the meeting instead of the usual invocation. Following the dinner, Mrs. David Steele, president, introduced guests from Frostburg and Hagerstown, including Mrs. H. D. Kline, Hagerstown, secretary of the Maryland State Federation of Republican Women; Miss Frances Berger, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Kenneth Simms, treasurer of the Hagerstown Republican Women's Club; and Mrs. J. Glenn Beall.

Gibson Pictures City Finances For Rotarians

Stressing the importance of local self-government and the need for intelligent interest by all citizens therein, Arthur V. Gibson, city auditor, presented a picture of city finances yesterday to Rotarians.

While disclaiming any intention of advocating a specific new form of municipal government here, Gibson noted that the present commissioner type presents many difficulties by combining legislative and administrative functions in the city officiate.

Gibson spoke as a pinch-hitter with short-notice preparation to fill the program vacancy caused by the illness of Pvt. Marion Hargrove, forum speaker, who was unable to come to Cumberland for the third time in recent weeks.

Restrictions on financial management were noted as a distinct handicap in the present city government, Gibson stated. They are imposed by the tax rate limitation of seventy-five cents, now temporarily ninety cents; special city legislation at Annapolis and the charter limitation on bonded indebtedness, which may not exceed ten per cent of the total assessed valuation. The bonded indebtedness is now forty per cent of the allowance.

Thus, little discretion in financial management is left to the mayor and city council, Gibson said.

Birthday honors were accorded Edward R. Allan.

Visitors included Juan Y. Blume and Pedro Ventura, Rotarians of Lima, Peru, who are connected with the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company; C. R. Nuzum, Keyser, W. Va., also a Rotarian; Andy Cohill, Hagerstown, and Thomas V. Pierce, Tucson, Ariz., former Cumberland banker, who was president of the Liberty Trust Company.

"Some Progress" Is Reported on Strike At Peskin's Store

"Some progress" was reported yesterday in the dispute between Peskin's shoe store here and Local 654, Retail Clerks Union, as employes continued their tenth day of picketing.

William McGinnis, Pittsburgh, international representative of the clerks union, and William Krapf, president of Local 322, Meat Cutters Union, met with Frederick A. Puderbaugh and William C. Walsh, company attorneys, in an attempt to settle the dispute.

McGinnis said settlement of the case hinges on the rehiring of one clerk and the union shop. Representatives of the store added the clerk would be rehired if the union shop issue could be solved.

Local 654, Retail Clerks, at its meeting Monday announced that clerks who passed the picket line face "drastic action." McGinnis said the union has contracts with six stores here and represents at least sixty-five per cent of clerks here.

Local 322, Meat Cutters Union, will meet Monday evening at 8 o'clock in Teamsters hall. A check on the progress of the present organization drive will be made at the meeting, according to Krapf.

Cat-astrophe Averted By Police Sergeant

When your favorite cat gets its tail wrapped around the shaft of a washing machine it is high time to call for help.

Central Fire Company reported that at 1:30 p. m. yesterday, they received a call from a Polk street home asking that they help to release the creature which was caught in the machine. Firemen said they were unable to perform the mission but referred the caller to the police department.

A police sergeant went to the basement of the home and found that the animal was indeed caught in the mechanism. Police said the excited cat had already inflicted painful scratches on the hands of the cat's owner when she tried to get the animal loose.

Police said the officer and several men at the place were beginning to empty the water from the washing machine so they could tilt the machine and release the cat when the sergeant loosened several felt washers, reversed the motor shaft and unwound the cat's tail. Police added the cat was not badly injured in the accident.

Little Interest Shown in This Area in Seizure of Coal Mines

Operators Ready To Comply with President Truman's Order; United Mine Workers Officials Wait for Statement from John L. Lewis

The government's seizure of coal mines aroused little or no comment among coal miners, union officials and coal mine operators in this area, and indications late last night were that miners would continue working until further orders are received from United Mine Workers officials.

John T. Jones, president of District No. 16, UMWA, contacted in Washington, D. C., by telephone, told Cumberland News reporterr he had no comment to make, had received no official information about the seizure or the union's plans, and added "all I know is what I read in the papers."

Jones said he had not been advised of any meeting of union heads called by John L. Lewis, president of the UMWA, but that he presumed Lewis would make a statement if there is anything to be said.

Robert J. Stallings, secretary of the Georges Creek Upper Potomac Coal Association, said last night he had received a telegram notifying him of President Harry Truman's executive order to have the government take over the mines at 12:01 a. m. today. He stated the operators will comply with the executive order and their mines will be open for work, if the miners want to work.

In some quarters, there was unofficial difference of opinion as to whether Lewis would order his miners to work after the twelve-day truce, following the forty-two day coal strike ends, or whether he would await orders from Lewis, and would comply with his instructions.

John P. Dolphin, representative of District No. 16, UMWA, contacted here last night, had not received any official notice of the president's seizure order, and said he could make no comment. Like Jones, he indicated that Lewis would probably issue a statement to the miners and for publication.

Local industries and others interested in the outcome were making no special preparations, and railroads officials said last night coal is still moving from mines in this area at a rate slightly above normal.

Action of Food Dealers on OPA Brings Replies

Letters from Sen Millard E. Tydings, Sen. George L. Radcliffe and Rep. J. Glenn Beall in response to a resolution forwarded to them by the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland asking for continuation of OPA for nine months with certain limitations in its administration, were read at a meeting of the association last night in Central YMCA.

Sen. Tydings wrote that he is "hopeful" the government "may soon be able to eliminate all wartime regimentation including the OPA, for I believe the sooner we remove the burdensome restrictions imposed on our system of free enterprise the sooner it will return to normal functioning and ample production."

Rep Beall wrote that the OPA measure had passed the House when he received the resolution, but that he had voted for the amendment which was in line with the request of the grocers.

Joseph G. Jackson, secretary of the association, said a mimeographed letter was received from Sen. Radcliffe and that he made no commitment.

The OPA measure is now before the Banking and Currency committee of the Senate.

A committee was named to start making plans for the annual dinner in October. It is composed of A. E. Windish, chairman; Ralph W. Rice, Lyn Beightol, Ralph F. Sell, and Corfield Patterson.

A picnic for members of the association and their families and clerks and their families will be held in July or August.

No meetings of the association will be held in July or August.

George F. Garlitz, president, presided and reported on the state convention.

Court Refuses Trainmaster's Divorce Plea

Jurists Also Deny Wife's Request for Permanent Alimony

The divorce petition of Hugh E. Wright, 53, assistant trainmaster of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, against Mrs. Margaret Wright, 52, was dismissed yesterday in an opinion handed down by Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge Walter C. Capper. The wife's cross-bill for permanent alimony was also dismissed by the court on the grounds that Mrs. Wright has sufficient income to support her comfortably.

Wright, who lives at the Queen City hotel, charged desertion in his petition docketed by Edward J. Ryan. The wife, represented by Harold E. Naughton, denied his allegations and asked for permanent alimony in her cross-bill.

Took Hotel Room

According to testimony in the case, Mrs. Wright was reluctant to give up a lucrative position paying her $4,500 a year when her husband came to Cumberland. However, testimony showed that she did obtain an apartment at 407 Washington street for her husband and visited him occasionally. Later Wright gave up the apartment and took a room at the Queen City hotel which was handier for him. In his testimony he referred to the apartment as an "inconvenient place" and "way up on a hill."

While living at the Queen City hotel, testimony showed, he wrote his wife, "Things have gone far enough and I am through with all that stuff you put out—so please don't worry me any more and let me alone."

Testimony also revealed that Wright had turned over all his property to his wife and that consequently Mrs. Wright is worth about $20,000 including real estate holdings and bonds.

Constituted Abandonment

In the opinion handed down by the court, Wright's charge that his wife deserted him was denied with the court pointing out that he locked his wife out of his hotel room and wrote her the aforementioned letter, both acts which constitute abandonment on his part.

In denying the wife's request for permanent alimony the court cited her income from various properties plus her yearly salary and said her income was obviously sufficient for her needs.

WIDOW OF CRASH VICTIM TO BE PAID $4,400 IN DAMAGES

Damages amounting to $4,400 plus interest of $16 will be paid to Mrs. Emma C. Lynch, Frostburg, as a result of an automobile accident last December on the National highway when her husband, Thomas Joseph Lynch, was killed.

Announcement was made Monday by attorneys in the case that a settlement of $400 had been made to Mrs. Lynch as the result of one suit filed against Arthur Robinson, the driver of the car that struck her husband. She had asked for $2,000 in this action, as administratrix of his estate.

Yesterday it was announced that a second suit for $20,000 had been settled out of court with the widow to receive $4,000 to be paid by Robinson. Her attorney, Edward J. Ryan, explained that Robinson's limit of liability, under insurance he carried, was $5,000. The $20,000 action was docketed in January by the State of Maryland for the use and benefit of Mrs. Lynch and her minor son Joseph Lynch, against Robinson.

The victim, who was employed at a local industrial plant, was driving to work during a heavy snowstorm last December 19, when he stopped at "Kelly's Pump," near Eckhart, to put on his tire chains, and was standing behind his car when he was hit by Robinson's machine. Lynch died the following day in a hospital.

Morgan C. Harris was counsel for Robinson in the two actions.

Discussion Dates Set for Nutrition Project Findings

Personnel of Unit Will Be at Three Schools for Talks with Parents

A schedule of discussion periods for parents of pupils at the Hammond street school, Westernport; the Luke school, and elementary pupils at Bruce high school, to meet with representatives of the federal nutrition unit and discuss findings of examinations held at the schools, was announced yesterday by Dr. Joseph P. Franklin, city and county health officer.

Personnel of the unit, headed by Dr. John W. Smillie, have completed the examination of 120 fifth and sixth grade pupils at the Hammond street school, and sixty-eight pupils at the Luke school. The latter examination concluded yesterday at noon.

Approximately 180 pupils in the seventh and eighth grades at Bruce high school will be examined, beginning today. The current project, which is the first undertaken by the nutrition unit, will be completed by May 29.

The first discussion period for parents will be held Tuesday, June 11, at the Hammond street school, to be followed by similar periods Wednesday, June 12, at the Luke school, and Thursday, June 13, at Bruce, Dr. Franklin said. Personnel of the unit will be at the schools from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m., and from 1 to 3 p. m., on those days.

Of those two, one was absent when examinations were being conducted.

Three teachers, including the principal, William G. Fatkin, and two mothers of pupils, who were present to help with clerical work, also volunteered to undergo the examination.

Dr. Franklin said yesterday that Dr. Smillie will spend the week of June 3 through 9 at Hillman hospital, Birmingham, Ala., where he will attend a course in nutrition given by the American College of Physicians and headed by Dr. Tom Spies, noted nutrition expert. Heads of the other two nutrition units of the United States Public Health Service, located in Gainsville, Fla., and Royal Oak, Mich., will also attend the course.

Increase in Sale Of Lots Reported By County Board

A steady increase in the sale of lots which have been bought in at tax sale and other proceedings by the county in recent years was reported at yesterday's meeting of the county commissioners.

Members of the board said that offers are being received daily for lots which were purchased many years ago by the county and for which there had been no offers until recently.

The board yesterday accepted an offer from M. D. Reinhart for Lot 39, on the south side of Laing avenue, formerly owned by Mary Lawler. Reinhart offered $300 and explained that he is seeking to buy an adjoining lot from the city.

Upon the advice of Somerville Nicholson, supervisor of assessments, bids for four other lots in the South End were rejected. L. B. Park offered $200 for Lots 298 and 299 on Lafayette avenue, but Nicholson said they were valued at $150 each. Park then offered $150 for Lot 298, and it was accepted.

The board rejected the offer of $325 from Allen Schlosberg for Lots 67 and 68 on Pennsylvania avenue, after Nicholson said they were valued at $250 each.

Ask Lodge Exemption

John C. German and Fred S. Goss, representing Mountain City Camp, No. 6, Woodmen of the World, asked for a county tax exemption on the W. O. W. building at 144 Union street. The home properties of fraternal organizations are exempt by law from tax exemptions. An investigation of the request will be made by Nicholson and R. Mason Hill, assistant county supervisor of assessments.

Lester B. Reed requested that the county roll the Barrellville bascball field, and the request was granted.

Mrs. George Shumaker reported that county road workers had removed a bridge while working on the Frog Hollow Road, three miles from Oldtown, and did not replace it. County Engineer John H. Carscaden was instructed to investigate.

Mrs. Lloyd Hoffman, Mrs. Paul Beckworth and J. W. Nicodemus asked that a culvert be placed in Main street, Potomac Park, in order that traffic may use the street from the McMullen Highway to Cresap Road. The street now has two "dead ends," due to the lack of a culvert at that point. The engineer will investigate.

Henry Hart Post Elects Delegates

Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, met last night at their home, Union street, and selected a total of 158 delegates, including Commander Raymond Reynolds and ten past commanders, to attend the annual encampment to be held in Baltimore June 28, 29, 30.

This means the local organization, the largest post in the state, will have the largest representation at the state convention, since delegates are based upon the number of members in the post, Commander Reynolds explained.

Forty-seven veterans of World War II joined the organization last night, bringing the post's total membership to 2,189 paid-up members.

Among the new members who spoke at the meeting were William H. Geppert and John T. Fey, local attorneys; Martin Schrader and Robert Crouse.

The post voted to contribute $55 to the Police Boys club camp fund, to send five boys to summer camp at Minco Park.

Announcement was made that the post's new ambulance has now been completely equipped and is ready for emergency service on call, twenty-four hours a day.

Ranford Ambrose, chairman of the Memorial committee, called a meeting of the committee for Sunday at 9 a. m., at which time the graves of all veterans, buried in local cemeteries, will be decorated.

Swearingen Gets Award for Public Service at Dinner

Kelly - Springfield Brand Name Receives Recognition at Baltimore Event

Henry C. Swearingen, Cumberland, vice president and general sales manager of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, last night received the Certificate of Public Service of the Brand Names Research Foundation at a testimonial dinner attended by Baltimore business leaders, radio, newspaper and advertising executives at the Belvedere hotel, Baltimore.

The certificate honored the name of his product, Kelly-Springfield, which has been in constant use by the public for fifty-two years. Only brand names which have served the public for over fifty years qualify for the award which was created by the foundation to recognize the proven value of brand names in their service to the consumer public.

Swearingen formerly was field sales representative for Kelly-Springfield in Omaha. He also opened the factory branch of the Kelly-Springfield Company in Chicago. He has lived in Cumberland for the last twelve years.

For Maryland Firms

The testimonial dinner was for those Maryland firms in the Baltimore trade area whose brand names won the award, and was the fifth in a series which ultimately will be held in all trade centers throughout the country.

The presentation was made by A. O. Buckingham, vice president of Cluett, Peabody and Company, and chairman of the foundation. The citation describing the long history of responsible service to the public of the brand name Kelly-Springfield, was made by Henry E. Abt, foundation secretary and managing director.

Expression of Responsibility

In presenting the awards, officers of the foundation said, "Brand names, in combination with advertising of those names, make possible mass production and the resulting wider distribution at minimum cost to the consumer. Thus brand names continuously raise the living standard of the American people by stimulating competition between goods identified by the responsible manufacturers' brand names. Brand identification is an expression of the manufacturers' confidence in his product."

Swearingen today will be guest of honor with other award recipients, of the Advertising Club of Baltimore at a luncheon in the Emerson hotel.

Rawlings Charge Unanimously Asks Return of Pastor

Members of the Rawlings Charge of the Methodist church unanimously asked for the return of the Rev. Louis P. Chastain for another year with an increase of $200 salary, at the fourth quarterly conference of the charge held at the Rawlings church.

The Rev. W. F. Wright, Hagerstown, superintendent of the Hagerstown district, presided and the Rev. Mr. Chastain gave his report for the charge, which includes the Cresaptown, Dawson and Rawlings churches.

He reported that the goals for an additional 100 membership; a decided increase in the Sunday school and payment of the parsonage indebtedness in full, have been reached. He stated that he was thankful to announce that "the charge has paid for the parsonage in two years; has overpaid its crusade quota by more than $600; has overpaid its World's Service askings by $50; has already paid in full all current expenses and will have a very substantial balance of about $900 on hand."

Far from a summer slump there was instead an intensification of effort as revivals in both the Rawlings and Dawson churches were held, with 162 families contacted in the former and 131 in the latter. In addition the activities included Daily Vacation Bible schools at the Cresaptown and Rawlings churches; a weekend camping trip for twenty-six members of the Youth Fellowship groups; a Sunday school softball team from Cresaptown, which won the championship in the church league against fifteen competing teams; a training school for officers and teachers of the Rawlings Sunday school for a ten week period; the operating of a Sunday school bus between Rawlings and Danville; and ex-servicemen's class in the Cresaptown Sunday school.

An honor roll was presented by D. A. Densock, in memory of his son, Robert; and a permanent roll of honor record book, presented by the Young Adults. Their next project is an amplifier to be placed in the church tower. The Dawson Sunday school has purchased a Christian and National flag and a pulpit light.

In forwarding the second phase of the Crusade for Christ, namely that of Evangelism, the Rev. Mr. Chastain reported that 146 families were visited in the Dawson visitation; sixty-three in Rawlings; and 476 in Cresaptown. Dawson and Cresaptown will continue this type of evangelism during the coming year; and the good will created by it has already been reflected in the increased attendance at the Sunday school. The Crusade report is as follows, Cresaptown, $1,243.80; Rawlings, $359; and Dawson, $312.
